Will Sees Cash Offset Tunney's Literary Losses

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 31.—I see by today's paper that Gene Tunney says "The only joy to be obtained by boxing is by facing a man of physical and intellectual equality."

So it looks like his two fights with Dempsey were a total loss as far as intellectual ecstasy were concerned.

But I imagine the financial returns offset the literary loss.

Two explosions rocked Hollywood Thursday and nobody knew who set them off. Evidently somebody had heard one of the talking pictures taken part in by screen actors.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa News observes—a girl walking down street attired in long trousers and a vest, that the collegiate car with with the signs seems to be passing—that dancing couples seem to care more for the slow sentimental tunes than jazz—that older people perk up when the calliope goes by—that Grant street is still as rough as ever—Tommy O'Brien taking his prize dog to the Conneaut show—a few early ones of the 332 who are here already.

"Blind Charley," will be absent from his post on Washington street for the next few days. He will be missed. He is always there and is a sort of permanent fixture for Washington street as he grinds out his tunes on the little organ.

Kiddies of the Carnegie play grounds enjoyed a huge banquet Wednesday evening as a courtesy and gift of the Carnegie company. If you want to see food disappear and people enjoy themselves to the innermost recesses of their hearts, watch a bunch of youngsters get together for a feed.

Pa Newc is not an abbreviation for Pennsylvania news, nor is it a symbal for daddy News. It means Pa Newc, who was named for New Castle for he founded it. He is Pa New Castle for Sunday clothes, and commonly called Pa Newc. He is the old fellow with whiskers who tells all the little observations about town. Many have not caught the significance of the name and have asked about it. Thus the eulogy.

School changes were announced in yesterday's news and other changes have been announced through the paper at other times. School children should watch The News for announcements pertaining to the opening of school and several things that they must do which have been announced and will be announced.

Pa Newc was out to the trade school at Ben Franklin. They have every imaginable type and sort of furniture there. Mr. Martine, director of the school is getting things shaped up for the coming school term. It is an education in mechanics to walk through the plant.

Speaking of the schools, Pa Newc observes that the new Ad building is ready and that Dr. Green has invited the public to inspect it. Take a walk around some of these days and see it. It is quite a plant.

People are learning toleration more every year. They tolerate each other and realize that harmony and unison means something for progress. Recently the charities united into a more efficient organization. Now the service clubs announce an outing which will be a joint affair between the Lions, Kiwanis, Quota and Business Girl's club.

The airplane has not taken the place of the automobile but the automobile hasn't entirely wiped the horses off the map. In Lawrence county are nearly 5000 horses being used and upward to 200 mules. It's not quite a mechanical age. Many farmers say that the farms here are too small to justify machines and that they would have to keep the animals anyhow.

Pa Newc observes that another New Castle man has been granted a patent. He is James V. Marshall and he has invented a doohinkus that Pa News doesn't quite understand. New Castle has had several patents granted to its citizens lately.

Pa Newc observed a traveller from Washington state today and one from Maine. Making both ends meet. Somebody called The News again and was wanting a down town market.

Advance Guard Of Doughboys Arrives Today

Members Of 332nd Regiment Arriving To Attend Reunion Here September 1-2

HEADQUARTERS AT THE CASTLETON

WILLIAM G. FLEMING, Chairman of 332nd Reunion

Tonight is the first night and tomorrow the first day which will bring the hundreds of former doughboys from all parts of Western Pennsylvania and Ohio to New Castle to attend the seventh annual regimental reunion of the 332nd regiment, or the boys who made a name for themselves along the Paive river, in Italy during the World war.

Tomorrow morning the reunion starts at the Castleton. However, many of the boys have expressed themselves as intending to arrive this evening from their distant points. William G. Fleming, chairman, and Roy Preston, with their committees have completed all of the arrangements for the affair and the local men who are the hosts are awaiting the arrival of the brothers.

Opens Tomorrow

Tomorrow, September 1, will be the opener according to the program schedule. Registration will be made all day at The Castleton until six o'clock in the evening. Most all of the boys are expected however, along sometime in the forenoon and the afternoon will be spent in one grand informal reunioning among the boys.

The first highspot on the program will be at 6 p. m. and this will be the company dinners. The companies who have not arranged for their dinners can do so when they arrive by getting in touch with Secretary Roy

ASKS DISPLAY

"I am asking all of the merchants to display their flags tomorrow in honor of the members of the famous 332 regiments."

This was the request of Mayor W. H. Gillespie, made this morning. In his statement which was made to the News for publication, the mayor stated that he was making no formal proclamation but that he asked that merchants would display their flags all day tomorrow and that citizens would do likewise at their homes.

First Workout Brings Death To Navy Back

(International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 31.—Miles F. Fox, 19, of Steelton, Pa., died early today as a result of a sunstrike suffered while practicing with the navy football candidates yesterday at the season's first workout.

He was a quarterback prospect.

After Fox was removed to the hospital his parents were notified but he died before they arrived. He had been on the practice field about an hour when he was overcome.

Yesterday was one of the hottest days of the year here.

Every Voter In City Must Register To Be Able To Vote In Fall

Personal registration of voters to be held in New Castle at the different polling places, September 6th, 18th and October 6th, is for every voter in the city, regardless of whether or not you were registered last year, according to County Commissioners' Clerk James Lamoree.

"There has been some misunderstanding of the nature of the coming registration days," says Mr. Lamoree, "many people being under the impression that they are already registered. However former registrations do not count, and if a man or woman wants to vote at the November election, he or she should register on one of the three days designated."

Must Have Tax Receipt

In order to register it is necessary that the applicant present a county tax receipt, showing that taxes have been paid by the person named thereon within the past two years. Persons who have been naturalized should take their naturalization papers with them.

In order to register it is necessary that you be assessed. The assessors in the different wards of the city are supposed to get all the names and have them on the books, but there are sometimes instances in which voters are overlooked. If you have any doubt as to whether or not you are assessed, you should find out at once at the county commissioners office. If you are not assessed you can have your name placed on the tax books up until September 5th.

Taxes do not have to be paid on the day that you have your name entered,

Pittsburgh Cops Surround Bandit Gang In Hills

Five Alleged Robbers Surprised In Rendezvous In Washington County

OFFICERS CLAIM THEY ARE WANTED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—A police detail under acting Lieut. Edward O'Rourke captured five alleged bandits after surrounding them in their rendezvous in the hills of Washington county today.

The men gave their names as Harold Phillips, 2, Altoona; Fred Prezisco, 30; John Sloan, 31; Robert Kitzmeyer, 24 and Ralph Nickmeyer, 21, Overbrook.

Police claim they identified the men as participants in numerous holdups and robberies, including the holdup of officials and employes of the Pennsylvania Builders Supply Co., robbed of $3,500, and the Jesse C. Stewart Co., robbed of $6,000.

The arrests were made near Chambers' Mills, in the vicinity of Washington, Pa. The alleged bandits made no effort to resist arrest when taken by surprise by Lieut. O'Rourke.

Once the camp was located, O'Rourke divided his men into several parties and each approached the rendezvous from a different direction. They found the five sitting around a camfire.

O'Rourke hurried the suspects to Pittsburgh and lodged them in jail here. Believing that there are other members of the gang who make the camp their headquarters, the police lieutenant sent another detail to the site to await their possible return.

Police asserted they found several revolvers and some ammunition in an automobile parked near the alleged bandit camp. They said Sloan was a member of a former bandit gang which staged many robberies before being broken up.

Other Robberies

State police who assisted the Pittsburgh officers in the capture said they learned the bandits were wanted also in connection with a holdup of a payroll messenger of the Ward Baking company in Pittsburgh about a year ago. The state troopers said the Former Resident Killed By Train

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 31.—Fifteen minutes after she was struck by a Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh freight train at the Elm street crossing here last night, Mrs. Katherine Katterson, 68, died in Bradford hospital from a fractured skull.

She previously had suffered two strokes of paralysis and was unable to work, coming here from New Castle five years ago.

Daniel Murphy, crossing watchman, saw the woman cross the tracks safely while the train was 100 feet away. She may have become confused and tried to recross.

The train was in charge of Engineer Brody and Conductor Fluent of East Salamanca, who rendered assistance after stopping the train. Coroner H. C. Heffner pronounced the death accidental and will hold no inquest.

Mrs. Katterson has no known living relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Buckley and Mrs. Anna Hagan of West North street have returned from Youngstown where they attended the funeral services of Mr. Hamb which took place Thursday morning. The deceased was the grandfather of Mrs. E. R. Buckley of Atlantic avenue.

Three Projects Being Speeded In College Town

ENROLLMENT PROMISES NEARLY 200 FRESHMEN

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Aug. 31.—This little college town, ordinarily the epitome of quiet during the summer months, is teeming with activity as more than 200 men rush work on three distinct college projects.

Forty-five automobiles and seven trucks furnish transportation for workmen from New Castle, Youngstown, Sharon, Farrell, and Struthers, O. each day. Most of the men working on the college jobs prefer to commute, although there are a considerable number rooming in town.

Lathers, plasterers, plumbers, electricians, painters, stone workers, men employed in laying composition floors, brick layers, carpenters, street construction men, hod carriers, mortar mixers, truck drivers, steam shovel engineers, tractor drivers, and general workers on Old Main Memorial building, Robert Audley Browne dormitory, and the new Maple street development where seven houses have been moved from the college office, fill the air with various noises of activity from early morning until evening.

Retired Railroader Found Dead In Bed

John Heath, aged 63, retired P. & L. E. engineer, was found dead in bed at the home of his friend, W. J. Baltes, 1019 West North street, baggageman at the P. & L. E. station, by the latter about 2:45 o'clock, when Mr. Baltes returned home from work.

On making the discovery that his friend was dead, Mr. Baltes called the police and Officers Letera, Kennedy and Lockard went to the home. They called Coroner J. P. Caldwell, who after an investigation, found that death had been due to heart trouble from which Mr. Heath had apparently been suffering for some time. The body was removed to the Offutt Funeral Home, 211 North Mercer St., pending the making of funeral arrangements by the family.

Retired From Duty.

Mr. Heath, who had retired from his duties as an engineer on the P. & L. E. some time ago, on account of heart trouble, had been rooming at 603 Highland avenue.

Last night, he went to the P. & L. E. station and saw his friend, Mr. Baltes, asking for the key to the Baltes home, stating that he wished to go there to sleep. He was given the key, also directions by Mr. Baltes as to which bed to use, the family being away from home at the present time.

Mr. Baltes arrived home about 2:45 a. m. D. S. T. and on entering the house looked for Mr. Heath. He did not find him where he had told him to go to bed and started to investigate. He found him in his own bed and spoke to him. Receiving no answer, he investigated, discovering that his friend was dead.

It was then that he called the police, who in turn called the coroner. Mr. Heath leaves his wife and four children. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Two Local Women Injured In Crash On Sharon Road

Mrs. Clark H. Buell And Mrs. George W. Thomas In Buhl Hospital, Sharon

INJURIES PAINFUL, THOUGH NOT SEVERE

Were Returning From Conneaut Lake With Husbands, And Cars Collide In Fog

Two New Castle women, Mrs. Clark H. Buell of Conkle avenue and Mrs. George W. Thomas of Spruce street, were painfully injured about 2 o'clock this morning when the machine in which they were enroute from Conneaut Lake Park to this city, collided with a car driven by Robert Brown, aged 19, son of Dr. Robert W. Brown of Greenville, at a point near the Morefield cemetery on the New Castle-Sharon highway.

Mrs. Buell's left hip was fractured and Mrs. Thomas received lacerations about the face and shoulder when the two automobiles came together in the heavy fog which surrounded the road at that place. Both husbands of the ladies were riding in the car, but fortunately escaped unhurt.

Information received by The News today concerning the accident is to the effect that the local party was returning home from the last session of the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Elks' association, which has been in session there since Monday. The accident occurred at 2 a. m.

Owing to the dense fog hovering over the section of the road near the Morefield cemetery, neither of the drivers were able to see each other's car approaching and was impossible to avoid a crash when visibility came.

Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Buell were rushed to Buhl Hospital in Sharon, where they are resting at the present time.

George W. Thomas and Mr. Buell are well-known in this city, and are officers of the local Elks lodge. Mr. Thomas is the exalted ruler and Mr. Buell is the esteemed leading knight.

The two men, with other local Elks, had left the city last Sunday for the annual state convention, having been sent as delegates from the local lodge No. 69. William P. Mitchell, secretary of the New Castle lodge accompanied them to the lake.

Reports from the Buhl hospital indicate that the two ladies are resting as favorably as could be expected.

Ferryman Proves Hero; Guides Boat To Capsized Craft And Rescues Many

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—With a double investigation underway today to learn the cause of the capsizing of the towboat Aliquippa, funeral arrangements were made for the burial of the three victims. Preparations were also made to raise the steamer.

One investigation is being made by the government, with two federal ship inspectors carrying the task. The other is being conducted by the ship's owners, Vesta Coal company, subsidiary of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation. It is believed a water pipe burst flooding and overloading one side, caused the upset.

The body of Christina Dunlap, 20, chambermaid of the boat will be buried from her home at West Brownsville, Pa., William Adkins, 39, watchman, will be buried at Hender-

Southern States Can Be Won Over, Hoover Informed

Southern Leaders Urge Hoover To Make Short Tour Through Section

LABOR DAY WILL BE REST PERIOD

State Organizations Urged To Perfect Campaigns; May Heed Leaders' Advice

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—While Herbert Hoover, the Republican presidential nominee, is concentrating his attention on the eastern situation he has also taken under consideration pleas from party leaders in the south to set off a real drive to check the Democratic hold in this section, it was learned today.

Although prospects for a speech in the heart of the "solid south" seems remote, Hoover is understood to be pondering over a proposal that he swing into the border states when he leaves for California to cast his vote.

Within the last twenty-four hours the Republican nominee has been told that a large part of the south can be won.

Among those who have called upon him are: C. Bascom Slemp of Virginia, President Coolidge's ex-secretary; R. H. Angel of Roanoke, Va., Republican state chairman; Oliver D. Street, of Birmingham, Ala., national committeeman, and Ex-Assistant Attorney General Rush Holland, who handled much of Hoover's pre-convention work in the south.

Hoover, however, has approved no

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 31.—Although scheduled to take off from here at four a. m. this morning for a trip to Uniontown, Pa., the dirigible Los Angeles was still in her hangar at nine o'clock, and it was said at the air station here that she was not likely to go because of weather conditions. There was "too much bad weather all around", it was said at the air station, for the big ship to risk a flight.

The big dirigible was scheduled to go on to Youngstown, O., going by way of East Liverpool.

Governor Smith In Need Of Rest

MAKES PLANS FOR BRIEF VACATION

By RAYMOND I. BORST.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Governor Al Smith was back at the executive mansion today thoroughly convinced that the life of a presidential candidate is anything but an easy one.

Tired out by strenuous experiences of the last ten days which marked his first public appearance since he formally accepted the Democratic presidential nomination the governor will try to obtain some much needed rest over the week end. Then he will buckle down to the job of mapping out his campaign itinerary, cleaning up state business and generally getting ready for the drive which he hopes will carry him into the White House.

Smith Delighted.

Smith was delighted with the receptions accorded him in New Jersey where he received part of the National Guard of that state and at the New York state fair at Syracuse. Smith's friends say he feels his campaign has gotten away to a good start and that New York and New Jersey will be found in the Democratic column on election night.

There is nothing that Smith likes better than to make an impromptu speech to a crowd but he is afraid that open air talks might result in throat trouble which would make it impossible for him to deliver any

Arkansas Crowd In Gala Attire To Honor Man Who Accepts Democratic Nomination

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 31.—Centered on Senator Joseph Robinson's notification keynote pledging strict enforcement of prohibition, the Democratic Presidential campaign was away with a whoop today in the solid South.

Gratified by the enthusiastic reception of his acceptance speech last night by a crowd of 12,000 in picturesque Arlington Park, the vice presidential nominee motored to his native town of Lonoke, Ark., 70 miles away, today to greet friends of his boyhood and youth before turning southward to Dallas for his first campaign address Monday. Hundreds of laudatory telegrams from all sections of the country were added today to the personal congratulations of leaders here for the ceremony to make the tribute of a united party to the battlecry of "Our Joe".

Speaks of Enforcement

Besides assuring the nation that Governor Smith's advocacy of modification "does not affect his disposition" to attempt "an honest effort to enforce the 18th amendment and the laws enacted pursuant thereto," Robinson pledged the party to prompt

Man Who Killed His Daughter Is Hanged To Death

Wallace C. Gaines, Member Of Prominent Seattle Family Dies On Gallows

(International News Service)

STATE PRISON, WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 31.—Wallace C. Gaines, World war veteran and member of a prominent Seattle family, went to his death on the gallows here today for the murder of his daughterSylvia whose battered body was found on the shores of Lake Union, Seattle, two years ago.

The black cap was slipped over Gaines' head at 4:07 Pacific Coast time this morning and an instant later his body was shot through the trap. The prison physician pronounced him dead eight minutes later.

The only statement Gaines made before he was hanged was:

"I am sorry I was drinking on that night."

He told this to the minister who accompanied him to the scaffold.

This was interpreted to mean on the night the murder was committed.

Gaines walked to the gallows calmly, apparently reconciled to his fate after a fight of two years to escape death by hanging.

Only newspapermen and prison officials viewed the execution.

He's been away for a month or more, down on his granddad's farm, down where the street cars are never seen, and traffic offers no harm. He's been chumming round with the field hands there, communing with horses and ducks, and forgetting the town with its blare and noise and the dangers of passing trucks. But he's back again with a coat of tan and stories of rural ways, and he tells of adventures in clover fields, and the stress of the outdoor days. And we missed him much, with his ceaseless talk, and the charm of his cunning way, but he's back again getting fixed for school, its seventy-three today.

Father Of Local Woman Killed When Horses Run Off

Otis C. Hoover of Near Smethport, Pa., Dies From Injuries In Accident

Otis C. Hoover, aged 68 years, father of Mrs. A. L. Kildoo of 1107 East Washington street was instantly killed Thursday morning while raking hay in the harvest field when his horse became frightened and ran off on his farm near Smethport, Pa., according to a message received here last evening.

Full details of the accident were not learned. The body will be brought to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Kildoo, this evening.

Besides his wife Mr. Hoover leaves two sons, Clyde E. and Theodore, and one daughter, Mrs. Kildoo, of this city. He also leaves three brothers, Ephrium Hoover of St. Paul, Minn., Homer Hoover of Sharon, and Hiram Hoover of West Virginia.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Ferryman is Hero.

Credit for the rescue of many of the 20 other persons on the steamer when it upset in the Ohio river near the town of Aliquippa went to John Porter, ferryman, who guided his boat to the scene of the disaster and carried many aboard his small ferry and threw out life preservers to others.

The 20 rescued told of scramble from their berths when the boat started to capsize. They had only about a minute to get on deck and to dive in the water before the boat overturned. The diver who brought up the bodies of the three victims said they were trapped in their rooms. The accident occurred early in the morning when most of the crew were asleep and caught unawares.

plans for a drive in the south similar to that in other states, it was indicated. Chairman Walter H. Newton of the speakers' bureau, after conferring with Hoover, said that "speakers will be furnished the south if they want them."

Starting his second day in his new personal headquarters in the Moran mansion here, Hoover continued to familiarize himself with the machinery which has been set up to elect him and to receive reports of political observers.

Each state leader is being impressed by Hoover with the idea that it is the business of the state organization to carry the party banner to victory. State Chairman H. Edmund Machold of New York and William H. Hill, chairman of the Hoover-Curtis campaign committee of New York, made known the candidate's views after a conference.

The conference with eastern leaders, however, has divulged no change in the prohibition attitude or Hoover's policy with reference to this issue in the east. Machold denied that he discussed prohibition with Hoover.

Prohibition Out.

Hoover, it was learned, declined another invitation to express himself further on prohibition, apparently feeling that he had covered the subject.

Labor Day will be a real holiday for the candidate, according to present plans. Having decided not to make a special Labor Day speech, it was said at his offices that he had no plan to issue a statement on that day further expounding his views on labor. Hoover, it is said, is adverse to using the holiday for political purposes.

FOLLOWS CHIEF IN CRITICISM OF REPUBLICANS

and decisive action in behalf of agriculture. He denounced religious intolerance, outlined a prospective Democratic program to revitalize the American merchant marine and assailed the Republican administration for "shocking and repeated departures from standards of common honesty in transaction of the public business." Only these four subjects were treated, but with the observation that many issues of importance were reserved for detailed discussion during the campaign.

Senator Robinson received a tremendous ovation when he faced his audience of neighbors and lifelong friends following the ringing notification address of Claude Bowers, keynoter of the Houston convention. Bowers sounded a clarion for the rededication of the nation to the rugged integrity and abiding patriotism of pristine Jeffersonianism.

A light, drizzling rain which had been falling for three hours ceased 30 minutes before the vice presidential nominee walked to the platform with his wife and Chairman John J. Raskob of the national committee.

Smith's Daughter There

Mrs. John B. Warner, daughter of Gov. Smith, also came to Hot Springs as the personal emissary of her father, received generous applause when presented by Chairman Raskob.

There was a marked difference, however, between the roar which Senator Robinson received and the scattered hand-clapping which followed Raskob's reference to Gov. Smith. Several allusions to the Presidential nominee by Senator Peter G. Gerry, chairman of the national advisory committee, were followed by the same perfunctory applause.

Robinson's speech began to the fading echo of "East Side, West Side." Many in the crowd apparently did not recognize the tune, for its stirring cadence did not call out here the great vocal outburst which greets it in its native heath.

"There has always been room in the Democratic party for those who differ as to the best means of promising temperance and of suppressing the traffic in alcoholic beverages," Robinson said in opening his discussion of prohibition.

Recalling that the platform committee of the Houston convention rejected both a plank declaring for modification and one specifically declaring approval of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act, the nominee branded as an impeachment of intelligence the assertion that Gov. Smith's advocacy of modification makes him a "nullifactionist".

Echoes Acceptance

He echoed Gov. Smith's acceptance speech in his denunciation of Republican enforcement methods.

"To one who for 25 years has uniformly supported measures for prohibition it has been disappointing to note the methods and agencies employed by the Republican party in the enforcement of national prohibition laws."

He recalled also that President Wilson vetoed the Volstead act.

Defining agricultural problems as "perhaps the most important issue" of the campaign, Robinson closely followed Governor Smith on farm relief. "If a more equitable and effective plan than the equalization fee is discovered, it should be adopted."

He attributed to Herber Hoover a large measure of responsibility for the eight-year "record of feebleness" of the Republican party in dealing with the problem.

Robinson's plea for religious tolerance was in the name, he said, of sound public policy.

"In order to avoid bitterness the leaders on both sides must display a sense of justice and fairness by refusing to become the beneficiaries of political influences and processes which they themselves are unwilling to employ."

Democratic leaders generally interpreted this as in rebuke of William Allen White's attack upon Governor Smith's Albany legislative record, with which the Republican campaign organization disclaimed all connection.

ADVANCE GUARD OF DOUGHBOYS ARRIVES TODAY

Preston at the registration desk in The Castleton.

Following the various company dinners, the boys will form in their respective companies in front of The Castleton and will parade the town. The parade will march through the downtown streets at 7:30 and will wind up at the Carnegie auditorium where the annual entertainment will be given. A lot of the doughboys will sponsor some of the acts and do quite a bit of the acting. The real program for the affair is still a secret but from word that has leaked out, there is quite a treat in real vaudeville for the listeners.

Go To Park

Following the entertainment will come more informal times. Many of the boys are planning to go to the park where they have been invited by Manager Shaner to dance, swim or do most anything that they choose to do.

Sunday forenoon at 11:00 sharp, the annual business meeting will be held up at the Scottish Rite cathedral which will last until noon. The doughboys don't believe in long business meetings and sessions. They don't call it a convention of speeches. It's a reunion where everyone has a good time and formality is forgotten in the midst of their former fighting comrades.

The real big affair will be at the cathedral Sunday noon when the annual regimental dinner will take place. Arrangements have been made for Sam Salippo to cook the real spaghetti dinner. There is more to spaghetti served in Italian style for the boys than the mere fact that it is food that they will relish. The 332 boys served in Italy during the war and that is the old home town of spaghetti. The sight of spaghetti brings back memories of days 10 years ago when they were pumping rifles and wading through mud.

The big spaghetti feast is the spread of the year and the New Castle boys are the hosts to the visiting guests at this banquet. Much attention has been paid to this banquet by the local boys and they have ordered a feast that would make old man Epicurus turn his head with envy.

Following the dinner, the boys will come back to The Castleton and will have until evening to themselves to talk. Most of the boys will then drift back to their trains, some will remain over night and go back Monday and the seventh annual reunion of the 332 regiment will be over until next year.

It is not know as yet and will not be known until after the business meeting Sunday where the reunion next year will be held.

GOVERNOR SMITH IN NEED OF REST

speeches during the closing days of the campaign. Rather than take any such chances he has decided to limit himself to about three speeches a week during the first part of the campaign and these to be made in a hall or auditorium.

Saving Strength.

Based on his experiences in five gubnatorial campaigns Smith is convinced that the big turnover in votes comes during the last week or ten days of the campaign. For that reason his friends say he intends to conserve all possible strength for a fighting finish.

The governor would like to get away for a brief vacation just prior to the opening of his campaign which has been tentatively set for about September 18, but he is convinced that in order to get any real rest he will have to remain at he executive mansion. For the last six weeks he had hardly a day to himself and his close friends fear he may overtax his strength if he jumps right into the campaign without first taking a rest.

City Plans To Stop Dumping

Councilman Clayton Reeves today presented a motion which was passed by council that will prohibit the dumping of rubbish on the property of Scott Paisley between Young and Blaine streets.

EVERY VOTER IN CITY MUST REGISTER TO BE ABLE TO VOTE IN FALL

but they must be paid, and you must have a county tax receipt to register for voting. The last day on which you could pay your taxes in order to register would be on the last registration day, October 6.

Heavy Registration

In view of this being a presidential year it is likely that there will be a heavy registration in this city. Those who are wise will register on one of the first two days, as there are always many people who are in the habit of putting things off until the last, who will crowd the registration booths on the last day. This will likely mean that you will have to stand in line for your turn if you put off registration until the last day.

Registrars will be at all of the polling places from 7 to 9 a. m., 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 4 to 10 p. m.

Personal registration only applies to the city of New Castle. In the country districts registration is done by the registering assessors.

Past experience shows that there are many persons who put off registering until the last day. Then something turns up that they cannot register on that day. This means that the only way that they can afterwards get on the books is by presenting evidence to the county commissioners that it was impossible to be present. If in the city on either of the other two registration days and neglected to register they have not much standing in presenting themselves after the third registration day.

LAGGING IN AVIATION

PENNSYLVANIA is far behind her usual tenth in the proportion of the nation's progress, when it comes to a count of civilian-owned aircraft in the United States.

A census conducted by the department of commerce at Washington discloses 4134 balloons, airplanes and airship privately owned. California has more than 600 of these. New York's flying machine population is 387. Pennsylvania is far down the list with 210 planes, trailing Illinois, Michigan, Texas and Ohio, as well as California and New York.

Pennsylvania's topography partly accounts for her backwardness in this field. The state is too uniformly mountainous for civilian flying. And the limited areas less rough in character are too densely populated and extensively cultivated for widespread plane ownership.

Airmail fliers and transcontinental planes encounter the most dangerous flying conditions above the Allegheny mountains of Pennsylvania. Several airmail pilots have lost their lives in the storms and fogs met there and two fliers attempting a non-stop flight from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic were balked by Pennsylvania fogs within two hundred miles of their goal.

But aviation is developing in this state in spite of the natural obstacles. Civilian flying clubs are being formed in many communities. Cities and towns are providing landing fields. And flying is becoming popular with business men and in fashionable circles.

PENNSYLVANIA GROWS

THE census bureau at Washington estimates Pennsylvania's population gain since January 1, 1920, as 1,133,983. Only July 1, of this year, the state's population was 9,854,000, according to the bureau's calculations.

If these figures are accurate, Pennsylvania has 12 per cent more people than it had eight years ago. That means an annual jump of one and one-half per cent. The figure 1,133,983 takes on added significance when compared with the nation's increase in population over the same period. Since 1920 the United States has added 14,302,380 to its population. More than one-fourteenth of the nation's growth was in Pennsylvania.

Behind the state's remarkable growth in population is an equally remarkable growth industrially, commercially and agriculturally. The state has been able to assimilate more than a million new workers because its development has not been in population alone.

The Keystone state has not attained its full stature, although other states envious of her leadership charge that against her. There is room for still more millions in this state and they are coming. Pennsylvania will not lose her preeminence in industry and commerce and her high position in agriculture.

REPEALING SESSION IN ORDER

MUCH may be said in favor of comprehensive legislation as distinguished from the piecemeal variety. Early solons belonged to a pot-pourri school of jurisprudence. The omnibus bill idea, which is appropriately associated with the hoop skirt period, was then in fashion.

A prize Pennsylvania contribution to the omnibus vaudeville was the act of 1834 which reduced the state debt, granted charters to a railroad and a canal and provided for a tax on horses and cattle—all in one breath. The champion in federal legislation is the famous fourteenth amendment to the constitution, which defines citizenship, apportions representatives, disqualifies officials, vindicates the public debt and even provides penalties. Vicious riders to appropriation bills are equally bad legislation.

These evils are being eradicated in Pennsylvania. The reform began in 1864 when the state constitution was amended to limit a bill, other than a general appropriation measure, to a single subject. Codification is now continuing this work of legislative reform.

In its last session the Pennsylvania legislature repealed more laws than it enacted, apart from amendments to existing legislation. The legislative reference bureau will show the next legislature how it can erase 700 obsolete laws from the statute books. The next session may set a new record in the unmaking of laws.

OLD FASHIONED CHILDREN

Did not stay out late—they had no way of getting that far from home.
Held their parents in high respect—they could.
Learned to work for a living—there was nothing else to do.
Did exactly as our children are doing—they took the world that was handed to them.
Obeyed the laws of the land—their fathers showed them how.
Are credited with many virtues because they had no opportunity to be bad.
Would be a good deal like the modern kind under the same circumstances.

Horsemen are born, not made. I know a Captain of a troup of Cavalry who is said to be one of the finest teachers of horse-riding in the United States Army and yet who has an abominably grotesque and awkward seat in the saddle. Will Rogers was thrown the other day from his polo pony's back at his polo field in Beverly Hills. He is a natural rider and his tumble was thought to be a Heaven sent judgment for his repeated slams at Eddie Windsor who is one of the world's greatest riders. As one who knows the Prince says: "He rides at hazards, which few horsemen would ever think of attempting."

The mounted constabulary of Pennsylvania are famous horsemen, but there is a curious thing about the State of Texas. Although Texas is the horse country of the world, no one seems to ride.

A horseman recently traveling in Texas said: "I saw only one woman in riding clothes and not a single man; there appears to be no riding clubs and no bridle paths."

"The mounted cops," he continued, "ride wonderful looking thoroughbred horses, imported from Tennessee and Kentucky. They ride so well that I asked one of them if they were all ex-cavalry men. He crushed me with his reply:"

"'No suh', he said, 'the mounted police are recruited from men who understand horses'."

Which will be about all for the cavalry.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

PERSONALITY AND THE LABOR UNION

There is no doubt that labor unions on the whole are successful.

Of course they make mistakes, as they are composed of human beings, but no one who has followed the labor movement can doubt that the condition of laboring men is better because of them.

There is no reason in the world why men should not work together to secure better labor conditions and a higher wage. If this work is in the open and is carried on without violence, no sane man would object to it.

Concentration is the order of the day. Its advantages are multifold and are too manifest to be doubted. The rise of the trusts and combinations in capital show that business can be carried on much better in a big way than in a little way. In the end the consumer is benefited, for he gets his goods cheaper and better.

But there is danger in a capitalistic organization when it is against labor, and in a labor organization when it is against capital.

Class consciousness is harmful when it is injected into an economic dispute. Domination by any class, whether of capitalists or laborers, would be unfortunate.

The Central Conference of American Rabbis recently adopted resolutions on the labor problem which are sound.

"The solution of the ills which beset our social order," the conference declared, " is to be found not in any class-conscious struggle, but in the triumph of sound humanitarian principles which regard mankind as one. No materialistic philosophy can solve these problems. The mechanization of our present age and the building of large industries employing thousands of workers have led to the custom of regarding labor as a mass in which the personality is lost. We cannot sanction this practice which tends more and more to treat labor only as an instrument. Machinery and industry exist for men, and not men for them."

Fortunately in America class consciousness is not so prevalent. The doors between the classes are too open for any class to remain fixed. Laborers can too often become capitalists in this country and capitalists laborers, for communism and socialism to take root deeply in this soil.

Here every man justly regards himself as every other man's equal, and the laborer should be careful not to commit himself to any program that submerges his personality. He is a man and stands equal before the law to any other man, no matter what his possessions.

This democracy cannot endure unless it is founded upon men, men with equal rights and citizenship, and not founded upon any class.

On a building in Union Square, New York a gigantic sign reads: "VOTE COMMUNIST."

"For the Party of Class Struggle."

"For the Workers Against the Bosses."

That does not attract as it would have done when New York's garment workers were almost starving in sweat shops; when street car drivers made $41 a month; when bread lines were long at 2 o'clock every morning, waiting hours in bitter cold for a piece of dry bread and a cup of coffee.

Times have changed. The struggle today is not of workers against bosses but a struggle of the workers to become a boss.

As for the word "Communist" ask that gentleman that owns one to give you a half interest in his automobile in his house and lot, his savings account.

Those are things that millions of workers own today and few or none owned 40 years ago.

To make your appeal succeed make it sound REASONABLE. That applies even to Communists usually sincere.

BETTER DAYS FOR SOUTH EUROPE SEEN IN RETURN OF VENIZELOS

The greatest leader of modern Greece, Eleutherios Venizelos, is applauded by the American press for his victory at the polls, which is accepted as meaning that Greece is on her way toward recovery from political and financial troubles, thereby contributing to generally improved conditions in southern Europe.

"The 'Grand Old Man' of Greece has won world-wide admiration and respect," says the SCHENECTADY GAZETTE, "because of the qualities he is known to possess. Foe, as well as friend, has been compelled to recognize this. Forced into retirement by the turn of the wheel of politics, he has not felt the future was dark. Rather he has bided his time and planned to strike at the proper moment. It does not seem far-fetched to say that the man in politics with real ability is never permanently eclipsed. To use an old phrase, he may be 'down but never out'. If he awaits his opportunity, it is almost certain to come to him."

"His victory," according to the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, "holds promise of stability for that most unstable and sharply divided country. Primarily, it means the defeat of the royalist faction, the third administered since the Glucksburg dynasty was driven from the throne. It also puts the stamp of approval on the leadership of the nation's leading statesman, at a time when a strong hand is needed at the helm. . . . It was a critical period. Communism and chaos faced the country on the one hand; the rising tide of royalist sentiment was menacing the republic on the other. The government, burdened with financial difficulties, was visibly wobbling and fast becoming an easy prey to its enemies. . . . The return of Venizelos has now been given popular sanction."

"Under the leadership of Venizelos Greece has generally been more successful in its foreign policies than its domestic affairs, with the notable exception, of course, of the last Greco-Turkish struggle," in the opinion of the PROVIDENCE BULLETIN, which adds: "If the veteran statesman can match his success in international affairs by leading the country to such domestic progress as might be secured, for instance, through an orderly development of the port of Salonika, he will win new acclaim in all countries as a governmental chieftain with exceptional abilities and one of the world's greatest post-war leaders."

"Large numbers of the people of America have the friendliest feeling for the country to which civilization is so much indebted," observes the SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN. "They may not look forward to a return of the ancient glory of Athens, but they do look back to it and would like to think that reasonably peaceful conditions prevail in the historic city. It is, therefore, welcome news to many that large majorities have been given at the polls to the followers of Premier Venizelos. That grand old man has hosts of admirers here. They recognize in him a master statesman, a devoted patriot, and in many respects the greatest of modern Greeks. The day will come when Venizelos will have a magnificent statue in Athens. He will then be honored as the great man from Crete."

"Venizelos is well along in years," remarks the COLUMBUS EVENING DISPATCH, "but he may yet have time and strength left to use his present parliamentary advantage in getting the Greek republic firmly on its feet. If the Greeks will retain for a few years their present disposition to follow his leadership, the royalist faction is likely to fade permanently out of the picture." The WATERBURY REPUBLICAN emphasizes the "severe defeat for royalists and militarists" and the "return of the body of the electorate to its republican faith." That paper adds: "This return may be expected to have its influence throughout southern Europe. It is a good sign, welcome to the nations that have refused to permit post-war disillusionment and weariness to cause them to forsake parliamentary government for administrative peace and efficiency, bought at the cost of freedom."

Pointing out that, upon the return of Venizelos, "the territory of Greece had doubled and the population had increased from 2,500,000 to more than 6,500,000," and that "Athens had grown from a small capital to the metropolis of southeastern Europe, a city of almost 1,000,000 persons, larger than its once lordly rival, Constantinople," the NEW YORK SUN adds: "It was this new Greece, with its aspirations and hopes, which Venizelos met and with which he must now reckon. There yet remain for him three tasks: establishment of a stable government, introduction of a sound financial system, and assuring of peace with neighboring states."

"If Venizelos is left to himself for a few years, he ought to do for Greece what Kemal has been doing for Turkey, and start the country on the road to renewed peace and prosperity," in the opinion of the APPLETON POST CRESCENT. The DANBURY NEWS, however, suggests that "With Italy, Spain, Greece and Turkey each firmly in the hands of a dictator, Europe may feel easy for the time being. But no country under temporary one-man rule of iron is permanently safe. The dictator who is truly wise and patriotic will do his best to establish either a monarchy or the framework of a republic. Government that depends on the life of a dictator for stability is founded on the most shifty of shifting sands."

A blithe canary in a cage,
A row of books upon a shelf,
Two children at the laughing age,
Their smiling mother and myself;
A fire to keep our bodies warm,
Good food to keep us hale and strong.
Come summer sun or winter's storm,
What more to mortals may belong?

A garden where the chosen few
Old fashioned blossoms nod and sway
And (something men forget to do)
With beauty all our care repay.
A nook that's littered deep with toys,
At times an hour of mirth and song,
A yearly round of simple joys—
What more to mortals may belong?

Let arrogance ride proudly by,
Let wealth its costlier gauds display;
We own as much of God's blue sky,
As much of God's warm sun as they.
Green grows the grass before our door,
Here love and peace and mirth are known.
Does any richer man have more?
Can more than this a mortal own?

Ceramics Industry Needs College Men

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Aug. 31.—The rapid expansion of the ceramics industry has increased the demand for technically trained graduates to a point where the colleges and universities are unable to supply them, Dean Edward Steidle of the School of Mines and Metallurgy of the Pennsylvania State College, said today. So far as this college is concerned, he declared that all of the graduates in ceramic engineering were placed in the industries immediately after commencement; several of the men had their choice of three or four positions.

"Mere mention of some of the products of this industry shows how much we are dependent upon technical knowledge for the developments in this art," Dean Steidle pointed out. "From the simple clay and pottery work of primitive man, this industry has so grown that it now supplies us with such necessities of life as glass, tile, china, light bulbs, clays, bricks, plaster, bathroom fixtures, mirrors, porcelain, drainage pipes, abrasives for grinding, and cement, to list only a few. We owe all of these things which have so much to do with our comfort in modern civilization to the studies and investigations of the ceramic industries."

The automobile industry uses 40 per cent of the plate glass produced, Dean Steidle stated. Developments in this phase of the industry are toward the improvement of the "continuous drawing" operations. The present color fad in porcelains has required a change in formula for its manufacture, one of the important recent developments in ceramic processes.

While Pennsylvania is thought of primarily as a coal mining and metallurgical state when mineral production is mentioned, it is the center of the ceramic industry also, Dean Steidle pointed out. One-fourth of the ceramic activities of the United States are embraced in Pennsylvania.

Motorist Beats Limited From New York City To Boston; Wins $50.00

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Having driven his car from New York to Boston in twenty minutes less time than the Merchant's Limited, Jerome P. Neff of New York was today faced with the prospect of selling his car and going back to New York on the Merchant's Limited. Registrar of Motor Vehicles George Parker today denied the Neffs the right to operate an automobile in this state.

Neff and his wife, to win a wager of $50 left the Park Central Hotel in New York at 5 p. m., yesterday and drew up before the Copley Plaza Hotel here at 9:50 o'clock. The crack New Haven flier pulled into South Station at 10:10 p. m.

During the 241 miles, Neff said he made a speed as high as 83 miles per hour. He declared he never slowed down under 40 miles an hour. Neff won the wager but said he had spent more than the amount of the bet to condition his car for the run.

Woman Convicted On Murder Charge

Mrs. Helen Eiker, 20, Convicted Of Second Degree Murder Asks New Trial

(International News Service)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—Facing a sentence of from ten to 20 years in the penitentiary, Mrs. Helen Eiker, 20, who was found guilty of second degree murder late yesterday today awaited the ruling of Judge D. P. McPherson on her counsel's motion for a new trial.

Mrs. Eiker was charged with slaying her husband Percy Eiker 22 with a shotgun at their home here on the morning of July 10 last. The verdict carried a recommendation for leniency

The accused woman received the verdict calmly. Throughout the trial she had remained unperturbed and at times appeared uninterested in the possible outcome.

Mrs. Eiker had taken the stand in her own defense, testifying that she fired one charge into the head of the bed "just to scare him" and that her husband was fatally shot when he attempted to take the gun from her hands. She said he had admitted running around with another woman."

campus have been running two shifts during the last few weeks in an effort to get the street graded, the curbstones laid, and the sidewalks in place for the opening of college on September 19. A steam shovel, two tractors, five trucks, and a steam roller are being used on this project.

All composition floors in Robert Audley Browne hall have been laid and all that remains in order to have the building ready for occupancy on the opening day of school are the installation of electric fixtures and a thorough cleaning of the entire building. Furniture, consisting of two desks, two beds, two study chairs, and an easy chair, has been placed in each suite. Freshmen men residing in the new hall will have only to furnish their own bed clothes and floor coverings.

Work Rushed On Main Building

The third floor of Old Main Memorial is plastered with both the rough and final coats, and plasterers are now nearly through with their work on the second floor. Meanwhile lathers have just about completed their work on the first or ground floor of the building. When the plate glass window panes are inserted in the steel frames, electric light fixtures are installed, and the top surface of the composition floor is poured, the new main building will need only desks and chairs to give it the collegiate classroom appearance.

With all this activity in town, it is little wonder that hosts of prospective students stop on their way to the temporary college offices in the conservatory building to gaze at their future alma mater.

Enrollment Continues

To date, 150 new students for the freshman class are definitely registered and there are many on the lists who have not completed all steps required to become properly matriculated. It is though that the freshman class will be as large or larger than that of last year which numbered 185. More than 75 applicants had to be turned away this year because of inadequate high school preparation or low grades.

Registrar James A. Swindler announced yesterday that many high school graduates have no foreign language and can, therefore, not be admitted to a grade "A" college. Then, too, a ruling of the college faculty made last May states that students who have more than five "D" grades in high school work cannot be admitted. This ruling may hold down enrollment somewhat, but it is thought that students who enter will be able to do college work and will remain in college, thus giving the same number in the end as if a large group were accepted and then dropped after one semester.

According to advance predictions, there will be about 100 seniors, 140 juniors, 160 sophomores, and 180 freshmen at Westminster this year, or a total of 580 students, including those in the conservatory.

Style Dependability

Recently we overheard a conversation by two ladies who were looking in our windows. One of them said "no matter what price one pays for a dress at Higgins, the style is absolutely dependable."

We wish we could briefly tell the remarkable story of our New York buying organization. The story is a convincing one of efficiency in buying style, which readily explains why our styles are always correct.

Our spring and summer stocks are gone—no carryovers—no soiled merchandise. New things are arriving daily and we invite you to come and see the new things first at Higgins.

Ace Of Air Mail 8000 Hours In Air And Most Milage

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—With a record of 8,000 hours in the air and with more mileage on air mail routes than any other pilot, E. Hamilton Lee, who flies the night mail plane between Omaha and Chicago is the "ace of the air mail."

Lee, who took out the first planes in the air mail when it started with 436 miles a day and two stops ten years ago has seen the air mail service expand until it outranks that of any other nation and today he is part of a nationwide transportation system which covers 25,000 miles a day, serving 62 million people directly and many millions more indirectly.

Lee has acquired numerous records but thinks his most unusual service was dropping food from an airplane on South Fox island in Northern Lake, Michigan, to save a band of starving, icebound lumberjacks. The fastest time he ever made with the air mail was between Chicago and Omaha, 430 miles which he made in 2 hours and 46 minutes. Train time for that journey is twelve hours.

U. S. Airmail Planes Fly Further Per Day Than Other Nations

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—American air mail planes are flying more miles per day than the mail, express and passenger aircraft of any other nation combined, according to figures compiled by the American Air Transport association here.

During each 24 hour period these modern Mercurys are speeding 25,000 miles over 35 states, stopping at 102 airports to discharge their cargo of a third of a billion letters.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

ONLY A BIRD, AFTER ALL!

'Right here, my dear!' cried my faithful husband. 'Don't be so afraid. Nothing will hurt you. That was only a bird that spoke just now'. Bobolink was there to soothe me just as he always has been.

"'But what a hoarse voice he had!' I cried.

"'Who wouldn't have a hoarse voice if he lived by the sea all the time, as I do? Who has a better right to a hoarse voice, I should like to know?' demanded the stranger. 'Of course, I am sorry I frightened you, madam, but really it is your own fault. If you had been wise you would never have flown, beak, first, for a light. If you hadn't, then, of course, you would have seen me.'

"'Well, I see you now,' cried I, my eyes recovering from the shock that the light had given them! And a queer looking thing you are. Husband said you were a bird. I can hardly believe it.' Mrs. Bobolink chuckled at the memory of her first glimpse of the stranger.

"I was afraid that wife's words would make the fellow furious. To be sure he was a strange looking object, but they didn't, not a bit. In fact, he seemed amused." Mr. Bobolink took up the tale at this point.

"'Whether you believe it or not makes not a bit of difference,' said he. 'I am a bird, and that is all there is to it.'

"'What is your name?' asked wife.

"'Captain Cormorant, Private Detective,' replied the fellow, stretching his long neck until his funny beak almost touched us.

"We drew back in alarm. Perhaps the chap was not so much of a friend as he would like to have us believe. We remembered Night Heron and Billy Boat-Bill. They had been pleasant enough to talk to. It might be that this bird was just watching his chance to snatch us. It wouldn't pay to take any chances. He noticed our caution.

"'You needn't fear that I will hurt you, little birds,' said he. 'I just wished to see what you looked like. You are not much like any of the birds along the coast. You are travelers, I take it, and unless I miss my guess you have traveled a long long way!'

"Neither wife nor I made any reply. Until we found out whether the strange bird of the night really was friend or foe we thought it wiser to let him do all the talking."

Mail Journey From Coast To Coast Cut To 32 Hours By Air

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—From three days by rail and 21 days by stage to 32 hours by air mail between New York and San Francisco represents the progress made in transportation and communication since the days of the Forty Niners and the gold rush. It cost $10 gold to send a letter in the early days, but now it is rushed 3,000 miles by air mail for 5 cents.

Here's the schedule of progress recording time required for mail between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

1850—Three days by rail and 21 days by stake.

1860—Two and one half days by rail to St. Joseph, Mo., and then eight days by Pony Express.

1876—One hundred hours by special train.

1928—Eighty-five hours by train (extra fare).

Cat Vacation Home Opened In Leipzig

(International News Service)

LEIPZIG, Aug. 31.—No longer need families worry about the car of their cat while they are enjoying their summer vacation.

The Leipzig "Association for the Breeding and Protection of Cats" has just opened a "vacation home" in which these household pets can be properly cared for until the owner's return.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Established 1879

FOR many years, Richman's Clothes have had the reputation of giving most for the money—more real quality and value, in fact, than you ordinarily find at substantially higher prices. And these new suits and topcoats we are now showing for early fall wear are the finest, by far, that we have ever produced in our half century's experience.

In justice to yourself, see these fine clothes before you buy—neither words nor pictures can describe their rich appearance and sterling worth. Our stockholding workers have given their best efforts to the production of quality. Only Richman resources could produce such value.

all one price all $22.50

These new fall models are not only more smartly styled, but we have added woolen luxury and tailoring quality in so generous a measure that you can compare them only with expensive clothes. The woolens have been selected and tested with unusual care, and they are so honestly tailored, inside and out, that you may depend upon them not only for fine appearance, but for lasting style and long wear.

You can pay only one price for Richman's Clothes—$22.50 for any suit, topcoat or tuxedo suit you choose.

Trousers

Our factories make thousands of trousers daily—you will find them here in the widest possible variety of fabrics and colorings—to match a good coat, or for work and knock-about wear.

Confirm Report Amundsen Plane Found In North

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Vjnon S. Prentice, American chairman for the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar flights of 1925 and 1926 received a cablegram Thursday confirming the report that a wrecked airplane believed to have been the one in which Roald Amundsen and his French companions went in search of General Nobile had been sighted in the Polar sea just off the northern tip of Scandinavia.

The mesage was signed by Froeis Froeisland, chairman of the Oslo newspapers' relief expedition for Amundsen. The message said that the wrecked plane was a Latham seaplane and apparently had been forced down in the open sea. Amundsen and his five French companions were flying a similar type plane.

Cattle Show At Grove City Draws Large Throngs

GROVE CITY, Pa., Aug. 31. — The Grove City Cattle Show opened yesterday with large crowds of visitors in attendance. Three hundred cattle from the three dairy breeds, Jersey, Guernsey and Holstein raised in this community were on exhibition.

The show is held in the grounds the association owns within Memorial Park west of town. Dairymen from all parts of the state were visitors at the show today. Poultry, calves and pigs were also on display as were also the work of domestic science classes.

One of the features of the show is a baby clinic in charge of Dr. S. J. Dickey of this place. Four nurses work under his supervision. Another feature which is new this year at the show was the two streets of displays from local stores. The entire grounds were lighted with electricity for the evening exhibitions.

The government experimental creamery located here has on display at the show many charts and graphs compiled by government experts showing the relationship of milk production to feeding, need of pasturization of milk and many other subjects relative to dairying.

Use Present Lands For Cultivation Grangers Resolve

Oppose Any Movement To Use Public Money For New Lands Until Present Is Properly Used

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Lawrence County Pomona Grange No. 65, held Wednesday in the Pleasant Hill Grange hall on the Ellwood City-Portersville road, the organization went on record as heartily endorsing a resolution calling for opposition to any appropriation of public funds for the purpose of putting new land in production until such time as the land now unused is under profitable cultivation, and until a larger production is needed to supply our population.

The resolution was given endorsement at the morning business meeting of the organization, and the action fully expressed the sentiment of the members towards this important question.

Grange Work Discussed

During the morning period, matters concerning other phases of the grange's work were discussed. Reports were received, read and passed upon to be recorded in the minutes. Speakers were scheduled for the afternoon meeting and the after-dinner session later in the day.

As is customary, each of the subordinate granges throughout the county had its own report ready for the approval of the members. They told of the activities in progress and outlined future plans. Nine of the thirteen subordinate organizations reported that they now own their respective halls.

After the endorsement of the resolution dealing with additional territory had been made the members prepared for the afternoon session.

Prof. Weaver Speaks

Prof. F. P. Weaver of the Pennsylvania State college, who is connected with the agricultural and economic extension department, delivered an address in regards to the rural taxation problem. Then a literary program was presented by the members of various granges, followed by a discussion of the recent grange leadership conference held at Centre Hall, Pa., and the question of rural electrification.

In the evening, the ladies of Pleasant Hill Grange served a most delicious dinner to the assemblage.

Prof. Weaver again addressed the organization in the evening, this time on the subject, "Price Movements in the United States," which was certainly enjoyed.

The degree of Pomona was conferred to a class of 35 candidates at the close of the program.

Members Give Farewell Party Honoring Pastor

GROVE CITY, Pa., Aug. 31.— The members of Grace Methodist Episcopal church gathered at the church last evening for a farewell reception given in honor of Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Loney who complete their work with the local church this week.

The program opened at 7 p. m. with music by the church orchestra. At 7:30 there was a short song and prayer service. One of the features of the evening's entertainment was an address by Rev. Sherman H. Eplar, former Chautauqua speaker for a number of seasons. He is a cartoonist, magician and humorist. Other speakers were Rev. Charles E.Petree. D. D., minister of the church and Rev. C. O. Mead, D. D., former minister. The reception was held in the True Blue Sunday school class room.

Refreshments were in charge of the Epworth League of the church. Rev. Loney has been assistant pastor of the church and director of church music for the last six years. He has been prominent in the affairs of the town and community and has taken part in many entertainments in the town.

Rev. and Mrs. Loney will continue to reside here for some time before going to another congregation in the West.

Shenango Pottery Folk Out In Full For Annual Picnic

At noon today a large delegation of employes of the Shenango Pottery Company and their families had assembled at Cascade Park for the company's annual outing.

A full program has been arranged for the day, opening with a picnic dinner in the grove at noon and continuing through until the baseball game between the Shenango Pottery and West Pittsburg aggregations at 6:30 p. m. A varied sports contest and free dancing on the park pavilion from 2 until 5 o'clock will be added features to the afternoon's schedule.

Lawrence J. Calder, the generalissimo of the affair, declares that guests from national pottery associations and other organizations will likely be in attendance.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.— More of the things persons want to know about New York, as indicated by letters addressed to the writer of this column:

"How can an unknown lyric writer get his work accepted by a legitimate publishing house in New York?"—Saffordsville, Kan.

Getting into song-writting business, that is, on a paying basis, is like breaking into the movies: there are no rules, and luck is the biggest factor. The biggest demand is always for tunesmiths rather than lyricists. Many of the most popular songs have words that were fitted to the tune after they were written.

The why and how of popular song-writing success become more understandable when it is known that the czars of Tin Pan Alley—Louis Bernstein, Phil Kornheiser, Bobby Crawford, Saul Bornstein and Joe Keit (the dominant persons in the biggest publishing houses) are all salesmen. None can read notes or play an instrument.

"I am going to New York this fall • • • • Please tell me when, approximately, the best shows open." —Nashville, Tenn.

There no longer is any particular season when the "best shows," i. e., the most prententious productions, come into town. Usually there is a rush of openings immediately after Labor Day, and one or more new shows are introduced every week thereafter until May, when the season is supposed to end. But, of course, the "best shows," i. e., the successful ones, open and run the year around.

The season isn't officially on yet, but the town is packing into no fewer than three attractions that probably will run for months: "The Front Page," a newspaper melodrama, by Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht; George White's "Scandals," a revue, and Earl Carroll's "Vanities," another.

The above mentioned MacArthur, a gray-haired young man who is the recently wedded husband of Helen Hayes, actress, also is the author of "War Bugs," a serial running in one of the weeklies. (Have you heard about the man who thought Patrick Henry was the editor of the weekly because he said, "Give me Liberty, or give me Death?")

The origin of this story is interesting. MacArthur was in the Rainbow Division, and an officer who heard that MacArthur was a newspaper man, thought it would be a good idea to get him to write a history of the exploits of the division artillerymen. The history MacArthur turned in sent the officer through the roof, so to speak, and caused Charlie to be threatened with court-martial if he ever attempted to publish it. Charlie wouldn't have thought of it if the threat hadn't been made; and as soon as he got out of the army sold it to a publisher. It was lost in a flood of war books and was only recently re-discovered as a classic of doughboy humor.

Not long ago a bundle of bonds and currency worth more than $10,000 was lost from one of the armored cars of a company which makes a business of protecting valuables. A man of foreign birth who knew little English, but who knew a fortune when he saw it, found the roll and took it to a police station. It was two days before the police located the owners. Representatives of the armored car company and of the bank to which the money was consigned first denied that any money had been lost!

Sauerkraut juice is now recommended as a reliable remedy for that Lang-over. But those who try it should realize that wurst is yet to come.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Aug. 31.— Miss Mary Garrett Hay, noted Suffragist, died here late Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, also internationally known for her suffrage activities. Death resulted from a heart attack which Miss Hay suffered late Wednesday which was the seventy-first anniversary of her birth.

Charges Police In Philadelphia With Corruption

District Attorney Monaghan Says Police Have Been Paid By Bootleggers

PROTECTION IS EASILY SECURED

Racketeers Bank $10,000,000 And Allege Police Receive Fine Cut

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—A steady stream of gold has been poured into the eager hands of corrupt police and city officials by the bootleg ring working here, District Attorney John Monaghan declared as a grand jury continued its investigation today of underworld conditions here.

"Enormous sums of money were paid police and officials for "services rendered," Monaghan disclosed following examination of the records in which he asserts were kept the accounts for the principal bootleggers of the city.

"Unheard-of sums were accepted by police and police officials," Monaghan said. He refused to amplify this declaration, as the books were subpoenaed by the grand jury and all evidence is kept secret.

Further revelations even more startling are promised as the inquiry continues. It has already been brought out that $10,000,000 was banked by bootleggers here in the past year.

Capone Entertained

"Scarface" Al Capone also was linked with conditions here. Testimony was given he was lavishly entertained here several times. A warrant is now in the hands of police for Sailor Friedman, former Chicago pugilist and alleged gunman.

Max, "Boo Boo" Hoff, well-known prizefight manager, termed the "king of Philadelphia racketeers" by his exchauffeur, Lou Elfman, was quizzed yesterday after the allaged booze ring records were found in offices adjoining those formerly occupied by Hoff. "Boo Boo", as he is known in sports circles here, will appear before the jury again today. He has been called almost daily since the probe started 10 days ago.

Colonel Samuel O. Wynne, prohibition administrator here, today joined Monaghan in scanning the records of the rum ring. Internal revenue officials also are reported examining the books, checking up on the incomes of the leaders.

TWO SIZES LARGER

"Hear the latest about Newrich?"

"No. What now?"

"He bought a Louis XIV bed, but it was too small for him, so he sent it back and asked for a Louis XVI."

One of our boys says he is going to college to get the low-down on how to write plays. If he wants the real low-down he should see some of the current Broadway productions.

Faces Murder Trial

Valerie Cox, cafe entertainer, held at Hayward, Wis., on a charge of murder, growing out of the death of Elmer Olson, musician, during a party at a Wisconsin lake resort. Miss Cox was arrested and then released when a coroner's jury tentatively decided that Olson's death resulted from falling on a broken bottle. Now she has been indicted on a charge of stabbing Olson to death.

Hundred Persons Are Poisoned At Reunion Dinner

(International News Service)

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Aug. 31.—Approximately 100 of the 135 persons who attended a reunion of the Hixon, Stouffer, Booker and Stull families near here suffered today from ptomaine poisoning.

Soon after eating chicken sandwiches and drinking water from a spring they became ill and many fainted. Those not afflicted were too few to take care of the others.

Three of the victims were said to be in a serious condition but attending physicians are hopeful that all will recover. The spring water is being analyzed.

Pittsburgh Woman Killed In Wreck

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—Details of an automobile accident in which a Pittsburgh woman was killed and six other members of her family were injured near New Carlisle, Ohio, were received by relatives here today.

The party was returning from Terre Haute, Indiana, when the machine in which they were riding skidded and overturned on a highway yesterday. The woman, Mrs. Catherine Hagerty, 59, died when she was crushed under the machine. The husband, four children and a niece were taken to a Dayton, O., hospital, where their injuries were pronounced not serious.

Reform School Inmate Missing

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—Police here were asked today to assist in the search for Clyde Risinger, 17, of Indiana, Pa., who escaped from Western Pennsylvania Training school, at Morganza, near Canonsburg, yesterday. He is believed to have made his escape by walking off the grounds while working in the fields.

GAINED GLORIOUS HEALTH THRU USE OF NEW KONJOLA

Rundown System Invigorated By This Medicine; Also Ended All His Severe Ailments.

MR. JOHN SOMTAG

The amazing manner in which this new Konjola medicine has restored thousands of people to health after many years suffering from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels has not only become the talk of the drug and medical trades of this section but is also the subject of much interest to the general public. The Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, is daily explaining the merits of this medicine to large crowds of people. A steady stream of voluntary indorsements are received from former sufferers and among the latest to indorse Konjola is Mr. John Somtag, 911 Maryland avenue, New Castle, who made the following statement:

"I am publicly indorsing Konjola because I know what this medicine will do", said Mr. Somtag. "It has restored my health at a time when I felt sure nothing would ever give me the slightest relief.

"Some time ago I was taken sick with a severe case of influenza and when I had recovered from this sickness it seemed to me that my entire system was left in a very run-down condition. My whole body was a mass of aches and pains and nothing that I would ever do for relief helped me the least bit. It was almost impossible for me to get to sleep at night because my nerves were so upset I would roll and toss on my bed for hours. I steadily lost weight and strength until I was a mere shell of my former self. Then my kidneys became affected and I was forced to rise several times every night due to frequent bladder action and all during the day I was subject to severe pains across the small of my back that really made life miserable for me. I was quite discouraged because I thought my case was beyond hope and I would go through the rest of my life in this condition.

"But since I have taken Konjola everything is different and this medicine has made such a vast improvement in my condition that I can hardly realize I am the same person. It did not take a great quantity to produce the results I tried so long and hard to obtain. I have just completed the second bottle and I want to tell everyone that my health is all that I ever hoped it to be. I can go to sleep the minute I get in bed and I never wake up until the next morning. All the aches and pains have disappeared and I am steadily gaining in weight and strength. My kidneys are so much stronger that the night risings are things of the miserable past and those pains across my back never come over me. I have a keener enjoyment in the daily activities and am always filled with energy and ambition. It is a pleasure to indorse such a medicine and I know that others will gain the same benefits that I did if they will only give this medicine a fair trial".

Man Who Taught Senator Robinson His Multiplication Tables Chairman Of Day

LONOKEAN, ARK., PROUD OF "JOE"

(International News Service)

LONOKEAN, Ark., Aug 31.— J. J. Doyan, who taught Joe Robinson the multiplication tables almost fifty years ago came out of the hermit study of his retirement today to act as master of ceremonies on the largest speakers stand ever built on the picnic grove at the northern edge of this unknown village of 3,000 gentle folks of the Arkansas hills.

"Joe" came home to his birthplace today to greet his old friends before launching a campaign for the vice-presidency of the U. S. He came at the head of a cavalcade of motors carrying a retinue of secretaries, campaign organizers, state officials newspaper men and photographers, the village was respectful but not overawed by the triumphant home-coming of her most distinguished son. Population shifts slowly in central Arkansas, and there are still hundreds here who remember when Joe Robinson hung out his hopeful law shingle in '95.

Brief Speech

The invocation at the homecoming celebration at the picnic ground was by the Rev. J. T. Rogers, pastor of the Lonoke Methodist church, of which Mrs. Robinson is still a member.

In a brief speech prepared for delivery in response to the welcome of his home folks, Senator Robinson pleaded for a "tolerance worthy of America," in the presidential campaign. As in his acceptance speech last night at Hot Springs, he denounced as unpatriotic any belief that religious affiliation is a consideration in politics.

"No man is disqualified for political office in America by the way in which he worships God," he said. He expressed confidence that "a generous American tolerance would spread throughout every state during the campaign. He urged his neighbors to repudiate intolerance and bigotry by rolling up for Gov. Smith in Arkansas the greatest majority ever given a Democratic candidate."

An old fashioned basket dinner followed Robinson's brief greeting in response to the address of welcome, which was by Judge Thomas B. Trimble, a former law partner of the nominee.

With formality vanquished by friendship, it was a day of hand shaking and jovial reminiscing for the entire countryside. Senator Robinson planned to return to Little Rock tonight to rest tomorrow, in preparation for his first campaign speech at Dallas Monday.

Slain By Dry Agents

Jacob D. Hanson, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., an official of the Elks lodge, is dead from wounds inflicted by prohibition agents when they shot him as he failed to stop his car on a highway. Hanson, thinking the agents who hailed were bandits, speeded away. He was hit in the eye by a bullet, blinded and was adjudged mentally incompetent.

Rescue Mission Plans Campaign

The plans for the fall campaign of the City Rescue Mission and annual mission day here have been made by the board of officers and directors at a recent board meeting, according to the announcement of E. J. Berquist, secretary of the mission board and superintendent, found as he returned from two weeks of his vacation according to the minutes of the board meeting that was then held.

The arrangements for the annual mission day which will be Sunday, October 21, this year will be considerably changed from the usual custom which has been followed from year to year since the very beginning of the mission. The board of directors have decided that no outside help for the annual mission day will be employed which means that no visiting superintendents from any other city will be here to take part in the services on this day. Mr. Berquist states that no special meetings will be held before or following the annual mission day as has been the usual custom.

Every member of the board will act as a committee in his own local church and obtain as much local help as they deem necessary for that church, and the superintendent is to assist every member of the board in his local church and also the superintendent is requested by the board to start individual solicitation for subscriptions for next year on September 1 and to arrange for a service or canvass in all the other protestant churches in the city.

This will be a new undertaking of financing the mission than has been the custom all the years since the very beginning, and it will be a plan that will be new in financing the missions elsewhere. It is hoped that the plans this year may be very successful and prosperous to the mission.

Young People To Have New Church Society Formed

Members of the intermediate department of the First United Presbyterian church Sunday school will gather at the Y. W. C. A. at 7 o'clock tonight for the purpose of organizing an intermediate young people's society in the church.

A social program will precede the serving of the refreshments. At the conclusion of the latter the organization meeting will take place, with Miss Myrtle Patterson, president of the Young People's Christian Union of Beaver Valley and Miss Ruth Hunter, intermediate secretary for the valley, featuring the program.

The intermediates will elect their officers and proceed to make complete plans for their organization tonight.

Sunday Services At Westfield Church

The morning church service at Westfield Presbyterian church will resume at 11 o'clock Sunday, September 2, instead of 10:30, as has been the custom during the summer.

The pastor, Rev. Ross Haverfield will preach on the theme, "From Generation to Generation." The session will meet in the session room at 10:30 a. m. Sunday school at 12:15 p. m. Christian Endeavor Society at 7:30 p. m. in charge of Paul Wallace.

ARREST SOLVES THEFT

Through the arrest yesterday by Detective John Young and Officer Lynch of Abe Rosenblum, junk peddler of Reynolds street, the theft of some brass recently from the plant of the Blair Strip Steel Company was solved and restitution made. Rosenblum had purchased the stolen brass from boys stealing it and in turn had sold it to the New Castle Junk company, where it was located. The case against Rosenblum is still pending, according to the police authorities.

RAILROADERS VISIT

C. C. Hill, superintendent of the Ohio and Western Pennsylvania Dock Company of Ashtabula, O., and J. T. Clark, chief clerk of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's Ashtabula frieght office, were visitors in New Castle Thursday.

While in the city the two men conferred with J. C. Hanrahan, division operator of the E. and A. division, regarding the handling of ore and coal by their companies.

New Secretary Resembles "Cal" In Taciturnity

Wm. F. Whiting Quiet And Dignified, But Is Man Of Keen Judgment

BEST LOOKING MAN IN THE CABINET

By ARTHUR C. WIMER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—A handsome, difinified, white-haired and white-mustached man, quiet-spoken and courteous, an able business man who talks little is the new secretary of commerce. One inevitably associates the word "gentleman" with William F. Whiting. He is so carefully groomed, so quiet, so fine appearing in his natural courtesy. He is probably the handsomest member of the cabinet. Secretary Whiting never has to dress, say, for an afternoon tea—he is always perfectly dressed. He likes neat bow ties, by the way, and used to wear black gloves a good deal; Washington and national conventions also know his black or bark suits, as meti culously pressed as those of President Coolidge himself; and his correctly-shined black shoes.

Deliberate in Speech

He is deliberate in speech and movement, and not prodigal of either. Although 64, he is as erect as an athlete of 20 and has the well-proportioned figure of a young man, with square shoulders and no stoutness. He impresses as possessing reserve strength. His correct and courteous dignity seems to speak of power under the surface. But he is human to those who talk with him, human and kindly, with ability to win friends and confidence. One would sooner expect to hear a shout from Calvin Coolidge than from his new secretary of commerce. But Secretary Whiting has the rare grit of making the one he is talking with think the two are intellectual equals. So is cooperation invited and promoted.

Mr. Whiting is the second completely Coolidge appointee to the cabinet; Attorney-General Sargent is the other. In their tactiturnity, their shrinking from the boisterous newspaper interviewing, their sudden and unexpected projection into the cabinet, their personal friendship with the president, and their abiding loyalty to Mr. Coolidge they are much alike. Those who journeyed with the Massachusetts delegation to the 1920 Republican national convention perceived the crusading devotion of Mr. Whiting to Mr. Coolidge. There has been no swerving. At the Kansas City convention this summer, Mr. Whiting was the last member of the Bay State delegation to turn from Coolidge to Hoover. Reluctantly, and not till the day preceeding the balloting, did he allow himself to be convinced that Coolidge was finally out of it.

Not a Politician

The new secretary of commerce is not a politician, yet his occasional political prophesies, made to friends, have not been bad. In 1920 he saw Coolidge nominated for vice-president, and aided the event. At the start of the 1924 convention Mr. Whiting was asked who might be Coolidge's mate and suggested Lowden, who was nominated, only to refuse; Mr. Whiting, by the way, has not turned against the former Illinois governor as many of the latter's other eastern friends of 1924 have done. At a meeting of the Bay State delegation before the nominations for the vice-presidency were made at Kansas City, Mr. Whiting suggested Curtis as a wise choice for second place; this was after it appeared that Cox or any other Massachusetts man had been eliminated but before it was announced that the convention leaders had selected Curtis.

Buffalo Citizens Pay Respect To Late Air Chief

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, Aug. 31.—The body of Edwin M. Ronne manager of the Buffalo airport killed in an airplane crash Monday night arrived here today and was escorted through the streets by an honor guard of American Legion troops. Ronne was killed with M. M. Merrill while flying Col. Lindbergh's Curtiss Falcon plane to New York.

Ronne's body will lie in state at the Buffalo Consistory until tomorrow when it will be taken to Chinook, Mont., his birthplace for burial. His wife will accompany the body. Ronne's parents live in Cheyenne, Wyo. and will attend the funeral.

A movement to name the Buffalo airport Ronne Field in honor of the dead airman was started here today.

LIVES LOST, HOMES SWEPT AWAY IN NEW YORK FLOOD

Flood waters raging through the Rondout valley in the foothills of the Catskill mountains in New York, causing loss of life and sweeping bridges and scores of houses away, have driven many vacationists to safer territory. The flood was caused by a cloudburst and heavy rains, swelling Rondout creek into a raging torrent. Above view shows residents of Kingston, N. Y., fleeing their homes in a rowboat, and, below, is a dance hall at Rosendale almost submerged by the flood.

Hogs To Do Work Of Incinerator

MINNEAPOLIS Minn., Aug. 31.—Residents of Fridley are up in arms over a proposal of the American Feeding company to establish a hog ranch of 4,000 to 10,000 capacity in the township to use garbage collected in Minneapolis.

Frank Early, chairman of the board of supervisors of the township of Fridley, said the board granted a permit last fall to the American Feeding company, allowing it to operate a hog ranch in the township. He said the board had no knowledge then that the plant would be as large as now proposed, or that it would contract to use all Minneapolis garbage.

He said if the plant demonstrated itself a public nuisance, the board would take steps to oust it.

Officials of the American Feeding company, in a contract submitted to the Minneapolis city council, maintained the plant will be kept in sanitary and inoffensive condition, and "in compliance with all laws affecting such premises and the purposes for which they shall be used, and particularly such premises shall be kept and maintained in a condition which shall not be offensive to persons entering or leaving the city upon any recognized highway." In a pamphlet, it is said the plant will not be offensive to any persons residing in its vicinity.

The site of the ranch is one-half mile west of Central avenue and about a mile and a half east of the Mississippi river. It is three miles from the city limits of Minneapolis and about two miles from Columbia Heights. There are no residences within a half mile.

The city council has turned the proposal over to N. W. Elsberg, city engineer, for recommendation. Under terms of the proposed contract the city would deliver the garbage to the site of the ranch free of charge. The feeding company maintains this method of garbage disposal would save the city at least $50,000 a year over the present method of incineration, in addition to saving cost of a new incinerator plant.

Buller Explains Live Bait Rules; Fifty Is Limit

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—Queries reaching the offices of the board of fish commissioners indicate that many fishermen do not yet understand the provisions of the live bait act passed in 1925, N. R. Buller, commissioner of fisheries, said today.

The law, Buller said, provides that no person, including a dealer in live bait, may have more than 50 in his possession at one time. The only exception is when the bait has been furnished by a commercial grower. Such growers must be licensed and they furnish the buyer with a certificate which will protect him for six days after he has purchased bait in excess of the legal limit.

The adoption of the bait limit provision followed requests made by sportsmen's organizations to prevent the practice followed by those who made a business of catching bait for market. The board also objected to the practice because it distributes more than a million bait fish each year in waters in which the public is allowed to fish.

Lindy Junior Club

Dear Boys and Girls:—

Well, schooltime is here again and we have to buckle down to work once more. But after all, we'll have interesting new teachers and we'll make new friends and soon we'll find ourselves glad that school has started. The boys and girls who are attending Ben Franklin Jr. High or the new Washington Jr. High have a lot of nice things to look forward to, including swimming, shop work and cooking classes. So be sure to go to school on September 5 with clean smiling faces so that your teacher will think that you are the nicest group of kiddies she has ever taught.

How many of you liked the fudge recipe that was printed in this column last week? If you really enjoyed the candy, I wish you would write and tell me so; and then perhaps, who knows, I may have a delicious nut taffy recipe for you in one of the future club sections.

Boys and girls, I am extending the time for the "pet" contest so that we may hear about as many pets as possible. There are no other rules except that you must have your letters in The News Office by Wednesday, September 5th. Tell us about any pet you have at home—his habits, the tricks he knows, what he likes to eat, etc. Your letters will be printed in this section if they are written clearly and will interest the other members. Don't forget to look for them next Friday.

Your friend,
MA NEWC.
Care of New Castle News.

The following are two very interesting letters written to me:—

Dear Friend:—

I have a little dog named Dolly. I am very proud of her. One day I went after chewing gum and a lady gave her to me. She is a little taffy colored Fox Terrier. She had three little black puppies. I gave one to my little sister, Rosetta. She calls him Toots. I taught her to shake hands and play ball. I also have a big black tom cat named Jack. One morning when I looked in the barn and there found a little black kitty in the manger. I wanted to pick it up right away but Grandma said no, that it's eyes were still shut. Jack is 5 years old. One night I was sitting on the porch swing and I heard a soft meow! It was a little kitty. It has three colors, white, yellow and black. My Papa got a ladder and got it for me. I called it Tippy. It is very playful.

Your little friend,
DORIS MILES.
Rigby Post Office.

Dear Ma Newc:—

I have a cat whose name is Soot, for, she is coal black. She has two little kittens, one looks like her mother and the other a tiger design. We haven't got very good names for them yet or I'd tell them to you.

Yours truly,
DIKE BLAIR.
1209 Highland Ave.

When you're not well,
Or sick-a-bed too
Here are some things
To make and to do.

PICTURE PUZZLES.

Never throw old magazines away, as many amusements may be taken from them for a rainy day. One of the nicest games, which may be used at parties, if you wish, is made of each brightly colored advertisement you find in a magazine. Cut out the whole picture, being sure that the margin is straight and then cut the picture in half. Each half is then cut into many irregularly shaped pieces which are to be fitted together when you play with the puzzle. If you make several of these puzzles, be sure to keep each one in a separate envelope so as not to get their parts mixed. At a party each child is given a puzzle and the one who completes putting his together first, wins the contest. If the puzzle pictures are for young children, cut them into a few large pieces; if for older boys and girls, slash them into smaller portions to make them harder to fit together again.

A TOY XYLOPHONE

First of all, how many of you boys and girls know what a real Xy-lo-phone (pronounced "zi-lo-fone") looks like? Have you ever heard an orchestra and seen a man who seemed to be playing on the top of a stand with two little hammers? Of course you have, for no large orchestra is complete without this man and his musical "table". On top of this little "table" there are a number of small wooden bars which resemble the keys of a piano. However, they are played, not with the fingers, but with padded wooden hammers by the Xy-lo-phonist (he is the man who always plays this instrument.)

To make a toy Xylophone, use quite a few bottles, preferably root-beer bottles. However, whatever kind of bottles you may use, it is very necessary that they be alike in shape and size. Leave one of the bottles empty, and into the next one pour a little water. The next bottle should contain a little more water than the second and so on, until the last bottle has been filled. The more water in a bottle, the lower the tone will be when the bottle is tapped with a fork or any other sharp rod. By experimenting, you may make a whole scale of notes, and if you wish you can also make sharps and flats. Then stand your bottles in the order of the musical scale and you are ready to play any of the pieces that you can pick out with one finger on the piano.

OUR WEEKLY DON'T FOR CHILDREN.

If ever you are lost

Don't be afraid of Policemen;
They'll always help you home.

THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL.
By Ma Newc

The first day of school is here again
And oh, what a hullabaloo!
Johnny, of course, can't find his cap,
And his pencil is missing too!

Mary, who now is a senior,
Loses her grand dignity
To wail for her Mother to help her
Fasten her new organdy.

Tom, who is starting to High School
Is afraid he'll be late to his classes;
And studious Jean (who has just turned thirteen)
Somehow has mislaid her glasses!

Baby is starting to Kindergarten
And his eyes are full of tears;
It takes all the tact that a Mother has
To quieten his fears.

And after the kiddies are out of the house
The tired mother just must pray
"Oh God, bless each little heart
And keep them safe today!"

WORTH-WHILE DEEDS OF YOUNG FOLKS

Now that school is starting and some of us feel a wee bit lazy and hate to get back to work after a pleasant summer vacation, the best thing to make us feel ambitious is to see what other young folks have accomplished in school by being wide-awake and active. One of the best examples of worth-while deeds of young folks, is the record of Betty Jane Hamilton graduated from the New Castle High School at the age of twelve, and from Westminster College when she was only seventeen! And now, at the age of twenty, she is the youngest person at the University of Pittsburgh to receive the degree of master of arts. Miss Hamilton is undoubtedly making her mark in the world and New Castle is proud of her, especially the boys and girls who have her example before them to help them in their school work.

Announce Awards For Playground

A list of the awards tendered the outstanding children of the Carnegie playgrounds, South Jefferson street, for meritorious work on the grounds during the past summer at the recent recognition banquet of the playground children, is given as follows:

Raymond Must received the highest award, that of a Parker fountain pen, for being the most loyal boy on the grounds this summer. He also received a handsome necktie for sharing the honor of the senior tennis doubles championship. For being the maker of the best raphia basket, he received a pound box of chocolates.

Pauline Peluso proved to be the most outstanding girl at the playground this year. For showing the best all-around class spirit, Pauline received a beautiful doll and for exhibiting the best conduct, she was given a pound of Reymer's delicious chocolates.

Farmer Dragged To His Death By Team Of Horses

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 31.—Caught underneath a hayrake when his team of horses became frightened and ran away, Otis Hoover, 65, of Kasson, near Smethport in McKean, was dragged to his death, Thursday.

Hoover was dragged for more than a quarter of a mile. He was found by his wife who stopped the runaway horses near the house. The body was badly mangled. All of Hoover's clothing but his shoes and stockings were torn from his body.

Buy Furniture as you buy a Bond

Thrift in saving is no more important than thrift in buying.

The war showed us how to buy bonds—paying a little at a time. And more people owned bonds than any one in this country would have believed possible. Furniture dealers of the better sort realized the tremendous waste caused by people buying poorly constructed, poorly styled furniture which lasted only a short time—the remedy was in making it possible for them to own the finest furniture, paying for it out of income.

Today that is the accepted way of buying furniture. Almost 80% of the furniture sold in the United States is sold on deferred payments. Don't waste money—buy good furniture. Pay for it conveniently. Come in now and make your selection from these huge August Sale stocks. Let us tell you more about the ease of ownership under our plan.

And particularly let us show you the new Simmons Beds—just received.

Double Dahlia In News Office

William Boyle of 925 Carson street brought a very remarkable dahlia into The News this morning. The stem of the plant bears two huge blooms which are clustered together and make one large ball of orange and pink.

On the stem, there are also three large leaves. Two near the middle of the stem while one is closely attached to the cluster of blooms.

New Building Is Open To Public For Inspection

Administration Building For School System Fills Long-Felt Want

Announcement was made this morning from the office of City Superintendent of Schools Dr. C. C. Green that residents of New Castle and all others interested in the public schools are cordially invited to inspect the new administration building at their convenience.

This new administration building is the result of the remodeling of the North street building annex on East street. The building, which was formerly composed of classrooms for junior high pupils, has been remodeled into an up-to-date school administration building and central meeting hall for the entire city school system.

The first floor of the building will house the rooms and office of the superintendent of buildings, grounds and equipment, S. G. Ligo, in the front two rooms of the building, which face East street. At the rear of this will be the huge vaults, and at the rear the directors' meeting hall and the business office of the secretary of the school board and stenographers' work room. There will also be a reception hall on this first floor, as well as lavatories and cloak rooms.

Private Office

The second floor in the front will contain the offices of the superintendent of schools and the private office of Dr. Green. There is also a waiting room for visitors. At the rear of this is located the professional library, where professional reference works for teachers will be found.

Offices of the various department heads will be located here. These offices will include the headquarters of the director of vocational education, director of art, director of music and director of health.

Stock Room

Another feature in this new building will fill the long-felt need for a central stock room for supplies. It will be in this new administration building in the basement. Previous to this time supplies have been scattered here and there through the city buildings of the school department, and the inevitable resultant was much unavoidable confusion.

Work on the remodeling of this building into executive offices for the schools has been going on for the past two months. The work has progressed rapidly and despite the fact that the building is not entirely completed, practically all of the offices are occupied and work is going on in the new building in the same manner as will be done when entirely completed.

AGGRAVATING

Labor Day At Park To Be Gala Event

Will Close Holiday season But Park Remains Open For Dancing

Observance of Labor Day at Cascade Park, New Castle, next Monday will be the culmination of one of the best seasons the great recreation center has enjoyed for many years. Although the park will be open throughout Labor Day week with dancing every night in the Rainbow Terrace and the post-season Harvest Moon dances will follow, starting Monday, September 10, Labor Day will be the last big holiday of the season.

The occasion will be celebrated in fitting fashion, park management and the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly joining to provide special features of outstanding merit and attractiveness. There will be continuous dancing with music by Norrell Starke's Terrace Garden Orchestra, the outstanding dance organization throughout this section this season, from noon till midnight, with only a short intermission in the evening supper hour.

Special Effects

Special electrical effects have been provided for the occasion, and Rainbow Terrace will prove an attraction of the strongest kind both afternoon and evening.

Baseball games are scheduled for both morning and afternoon and in the afternoon a program of sports for men, women and children will be staged under the auspices of the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly. This will prove a gala event for the picnickers from all sections.

A feature of the evening will be one for which Cascade is noted—a display of fireworks on an elaborate scale such as seldom is to be seen as a free feature. This is an annual event at Cascade and the program arranged this year by Manager Carl L. Shaner surpasses previous efforts, including some of the most recent developments in the pyratechnic art.

Lovers of water sports will find the holiday at Cascade to their liking. The hot weather of recent weeks has made the delightful facilities of the Cascade pools so evident to the swimmers that bathers come from many miles around to enjoy a dip in this wonderful natatorium which has accommodations for 5,000 at a time.

Tilt-a-Whirl, the new and popular ride; the Wonderful Gorge Ride, and the various other amusements that line the great midway also will lend their attraction for the picnickers on Labor Day, while the children's free playground and the Kiddies' Midway make Cascade ideal for the family outing.

ENERGETIC CONVERSATION

R. L. Jones has calculated that if a million persons were to talk steadily and the energy of their voices were to be converted into heat, they would have to talk for an hour and a half to produce enough heat to make a cupful of tea (even if they were all politicians)!—Nature.

There really is a mechanical man that talks. We've seen him. But he doesn't say anything except "Yes, my dear."—The San Francisco Chronicle.

Coal And Iron Case Now Before Judge McLaughry

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 31.—Carded for argument before Judge J. A. McLaughry, September 4 next is the action to strike off judgment in the matter of the First National Bank of Hazelton against Mercer Iron and Coal company.

The bank filed judgment notes aggregating $90,000 against this company two years ago. The face of the note is of the form that confesses judgment. The note is also endorsed on the back with a confession of judgment.

As signatory to the note and endorsement is Robert Cann as an official of the company. It is held by L. R. Rickard attorney for Cann that this dual confesison of judgement is not within the statutes and the action is brought to clarify the situation.

It involves a very peculiar angle of law.

Also set for argument on this date is the action of the Mercer County Auditors against ex-County Treasurer Malcolm Simons who was surcharged the sum of $1,592 by that group of officials as the salary of the assistant in his office.

The decision of the Superior Court making this payment obligatory on the county releases Simons from any surcharge on this account.

To have this item wiped off the dockets is the purpose of this hearing.

Dr. Wingerd Returns From Vacation Trip

Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wingerd returned to this city today to resume the fall work at Central Presbyterian church. All services will be reopened next Sabbath.

Post Cards From Europe

by William Ivy

VIENNA, Aug. 31.—"Equal rights for men" is a real battle-cry in Austria today.

Two organizations of husbands exist, devoted to the sacred cause. One of the societies is called "Justice" and the other "Equity." One is trying—the one called "Equity"—to get its rights in quiet, dignified and legal fashion. The other, "Justice," believes in using any means, no matter ho wsensational, to attain its ends.

The trouble has all come about, Austrians say through woman suffrage. There are so many more women than men in the Austrian republic that they have everything their own way, with the voting right that they have held since 1918, and laws have been enacted that give them much more equality with the sterner sex.

One commentator says that all a woman needs to do, in order to have her husband arrested, is stick her head out the window and scream. The police instantly rush in and cart the husband way.

Furthermore, it appears to be easy for a woman to have her husband committed to an insane asylum, if she is unable to get rid of him in any other way. It is said that at the largest insane-asylum in Austria, Steinhof, over half the married men confined there were committed on the sole testimony of their wives.

Men do not appear to enjoy equal facilities. It is the fashion for judges and juries to laugh at husbands who cannot manage their wives and have to appeal to the courts for aid. They get small sympathy from the administrators of justice.

Husbands can obtain divorces without much trouble, but are obliged to pay alimony unless the grounds of divorce are very serious. Many husbands are supporting several divorced wives—but naturally that is a luxury not within reach of the normal pocketbook. And hence protests.

Contract Awarded Wilmington Firm

Minteer and Addison of New Wilmington have been awarded the contract for a new bridge over a stream near the Gulf Refining plant on the New Castle Sharon road. The old bridge was recently washed out during a cloudburst. Contract price for the bridge is $8,000. Work is to begin at once and the bridge is to be completed by November 1. Construction work will not interfere with travel as a temporary bridge has been erected.

Hardware Dealers Meet At Dinner; Discuss Methods

Better Merchandising Is Stressed In Large Gathering Thursday Evening

PLAN MEETING FOR PITTSBURGH

More than 20 hardware and electrical appliance dealers of New Castle rallied to the battle cry for better merchandising, which was sounded distinctly at a trade meeting of the local members of the Pittsburgh Retail Hardware Dealers' association held last night in the crystal ball room of The Castleton.

The local dealers were especially invited guests of the Dover Manufacturing company, Dover, O., to a dinner in the ball room at 7 p. m. and to the meeting which followed.

Pittsburgh Meeting.

Officials of the Pittsburgh Hardware organization were in attendance and addressed the local merchants. But their main purpose for being here was to invite them to attend a great mass meeting of retail hardware and electrical appliance dealers to be held in McCreery's- dining room, Pitts burgh, on Wednesday, September 12.

J. E. McCullough president of the Pittsburgh organization, which includes all hardware merchants from this section and other outlying regions acted as the chairman of the evening. In a few remarks previous to introducing the speakers of the evenig Mr. McCullough explained the reason of the special gathering and asked for the hearty co-operation of the local dealers.

The chairman then introduced Frank A. Hegner, the past president of the Pittsburgh association, but now the vice president of the Pennsylvania and Atlantic Seaboard Hardware Men's association. He again impressed the object of the meeting upon his fellow dealers. Then he proceeded to enumerate the menaces that are hindering the hardware business and told them that their greatest weapon for combatting with these forces of evil is to sell only standard goods at standard prices. He asked for their interest in the coming Pittsburgh gathering and extended his invitation to come.

Chairman McCullough next called upon Frank W. Fisher, the assistant to the president of the Dover Manufacturing company of Dover, O. Representing his organization whose policy has been selected by the hardware associations of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio as a model on which to build a great campaign Mr. Fisher told them that the honor bestowed on his firm is a great one. He further explained the Pittsburgh mass meeting, citing the fact that over 1,500 hardware men from this and the Pittsburgh district will be in attendance. "At a similar meeting in Cleveland there were 1,000 present," said Fisher.

Another man in the party called upon for a speech last evening was Russell Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell said he was not in the hardware business but that the cause for which these meetings are being held lies at the bottom of his heart.

Harry Ewald representing the Duquesne Light company also made an address. In a brief address he told why the public utilities are engaged in merchandising.

At the conclusion of the officers' remarks Mr. McCullough called upon all of the local merchants for an expression of their opinions toward the coming campaign. All pledged their fullest support to the cause and reported that they would exercise their influence to make the mass meeting in Pittsburgh a successful one.

The meeting of Thursday evening was just one of the many being conducted in this territory by the executives of the hardware associations. They are leading a touring delegation for the purpose of inviting their fellow dealers to the great meeting in Pittsburgh.

Other Movements.

A similar momement is being conducted in various parts of the country and in each case the object is to promote practical plans for better merchandising. Everywhere the dealers have taken up the work and great interest has been created. "Standard Goods at Standard Prices" is the slogan that has been adopted for the coming campaign and everywhere dealers are rallying to this banner with a determination to win.

The Dover company is the first company to be adopted in the fight to kill off the menacing evils of the trade. Their officials are co-operating in every way possible. Mr. Fisher and Carl C. Hunter also of the firm are both working teeth and nail to put the vital campaign over.

Herb Pennock, ace of the Yankee pitching staff, is laid up with neuritis. It would be just like a New York ball player not to get something contagious.—The Detroit News.

When you read that police have confiscated bonded liquor you have to titter. They don't arrest people temperate enough to possess bonded liquor these days. The stuff they confiscate should be called "bandied liquor".

Furniture Made In Trade School Is Worth $9,000

All Kinds Of Furniture Made During Summer Months For Use In Schools

MEANS SAVINGS TO TAXPAYERS

The trade school at the Ben Franklin Junior high school has made more than $9,000 worth of furniture this summer since the close of school for the various school system buildings throughout the city of New Castle. These figures were given out this morning by the trade school director S. A. Martine.

Every sort of furniture has been made by Mr. Martine and his corps of boys who are working with him throughout the summer months. This furniture will be used by the school system alone and will make a saving to the tax payers of several thousand dollars.

Tables and Boards.

All tables for the sewing departments of the schools, the class room table and the boards for the drafting rooms in the schools were manufactured by the trade schools.

In addition to the fact that much money is saved by the trade school making the furniture which the schools will use, much better furniture is obtained and that which will stand a lot more wear and tear. Furniture that is purchased generally wears out in a short time.

All the new cafeteria tables were made by the trade school as well as library tables and the office equipment of the new George Washington Junior high school stated Mr. Martine. Kindergarden tables have also been made and all of the blocks which are used in kindergarden schools which represent a saving alone of many dollars.

At the new George Washington school building the teachers tea room is filled with furniture that the trade school built and decorated in the shops on Lutton street. Six tables that are now in the new administration building, mail dispensers in the Ad and new George Washington buildings as well as magazine racks and cabinets were also made by the trade school.

Commercial Departments.

The commercial departments are also using furniture made by the trade school this summer. Desks are not made by the trade school as they must be manufactured in such a way that companies specially equipped can do it much better and cheaper than could be done here.

Practically all of the furniture, however, exclusive of the desks that is being used in the city schools is being manufactured in this trade school under the direction of Mr. Martine who is head of the trade school.

Little is being done at the school the past few days as the corps of fellows are busily engaged in getting the shops cleaned and ready for the scores of students who are enrolling for work in this next school term.

Aids Women's Rights

Senora Lucila De Peree Diaz, commissioner from Venezuela on the inter-American commission of women, has come to Washington to participate actively in the affairs of the body.

Chicago Chatter

BY IONE QUINBY

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Women are natural gamblers due to the ultra sixth sense which psychologists claim to be instinct or hunches. Hundreds of them satisfy their urge to "take a chance" or "get something for very little" by the Monday morning rush to bargain counters.

For $2.98 women will suffer crowds and the scorching heat of midsummer, the probability of catching germs and of getting their toes trod upon. All because they believe they are saving two cents on a dollar, or they have a hunch there's an article or two of big value in the muddle of silks advertised.

Quite often they are right for city merchants know the psychology of bait and in nearly every pile of bargains a few articles are slipped that are worth four or five times the rest.

It is the lure of the "prize"—of beating the other woman to it—that jerks women out of their homes at an early hour and sends them to the Loop by the way of the strap-hanging "L" or street car to compete in the battle of bargains.

I know a woman who once found an expensive bit of lingerie in a bargain sale and she has been to 300 sales since trying to match her luck. She has a hunch she'll match it some time.

Chicago offers numerous inducements to "try your luck" and casts out more bait to persons with hunches and "sure fire tips" than almost any other city in the country. Three-fourths of the gallery shooters and contestants at Riverview Park and White City are women, an amusement ballyhooer told me.

Nearly all the entrants in newspaper contests in this big city are of the feminine sex and the auction rooms are usually flocked with women. There isn't any reason for the majority of these auctions even when they ballyhoo. "We must sell, because our lease has run out" but they know it will always bring out the women!

Some women who live in apartment hotels and kitchenette apartments play bridge morning, afternoon and night. With these women it appears to be a serious business. A misplay is so detrop that the result may be ostracism by the other women of the hotel or building.

I have known women to be treated like outcasts in the little hotel in which they ate, slept and played cards—not for cheating—but for making a "dumb" move. Some of these women make enough to buy all their luxuries—when they don't put their husbands accounts in the hole!

Since Tex Rickard, Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr., and Gene Tunney put prize fights into society—with the cream of society bidding for ringside seats—many women not in the Social Register follow fights around the country and live off their "huntches."

Likewise since the horse races were brought back to Illinois two years ago and 30 or more Chicago millionairesses put their followers on the turf at Aurora, Hawthorne, Arlington Heights and Lincoln Fields numerous women follow the races. They come here many times straight from Havana, Cuba, Tia Juana, Mexico and other racing points. Sometimes they make a killing—more often not. Some of the bookies' best clients they say are waitresses, who know the value, I suppose of tips.

Castles In Air And Canada

Despite the fact that there may be castles in the air and castles on the ground and that the only castle worth mentioning is New Castle, Pa., Louis B. Round who has just returned from a Canadian trip reports an interesting little village of Newcastle which is in Ontario, Canada. It is situated on the highway about 30 miles from Toronto on the direct route to Quebec.

The little village, says Mr. Round, advertises itself along the highways as "having the finest community house in Canada. "The community house is about 80 by 120 feet and is built of brick with a huge tower and clock on the top.

The basement of the building contains a huge gymnasium and recreation hall while on the first floor is a public library, the postoffice and an auditorium and large stage. The auditorium is 50 by 84 feet.

Upstairs is the council chamber and the masonic lodge room while the dome of the auditorium runs clear to the top of the edifice.

It's a wonderful little town, stated Mr. Round, and the name of Newcastle attracted my attention. Another Newcastle which is making things hum in Canada, as well as that one in Western Pennsylvania which runs the United States.

Aerial passenger fare is now 10 cents a mile—a bargain for the fat man.—San Antonio Express.

Election Probe In Pittsburgh Finally Ended

Waterman Senate Investigating Committee Concludes Wilson-Vare Probe

WILL RESUME IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—Concluding four days of investigation featured by lengthy wrangling and fiery debates between opposing counsel over the 1926 election contest in Allegheny county, the senate subcommittee under the chairmanship of Senator Charles W. Waterman of Colorado, prepared to carry its inquiry to Washington, D. C. today where the hearings in the Vare-Wilson vote contest will be resumed on September 5.

The same explosive verbal tilts which have marked the inquiry since it began in Pittsburgh marked the close of the hearing here when after more than an hour and a half of arguments pro and con over the admissability of testimony from County Comissioner Charles C. McGovern, McGovern requested that he be withdrawn as a witness.

Following McGovern's withdrawal as a witness arrangements were made to carry the inquiry to Washington where Mrs. J. O. Miller is to be called as the first witness.

Objections poured in against McGovern's testimony following the first question asked him concerning a hearing of the board of registration in April, 1926 This hearing was belittled by Vare counsel who further pointed out that nothing could be obtained through such testimony that would be of value in the Vare-Wilson vote contest.

Returned Missionary At Reformed Church

Dr. E. J. M. Dickson Who Recently Returned From South China To Speak

Dr. E. J. M. Dickson returned missionary from Lo Ting, South China will preach Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock in the Reformed Presbyterian church of this city.

Dr. Dickson has spent fifteen years as a missionary in China, returning to this country on furlough last June. He has been through some very thrilling experiences during the recent revolution in China and is able to speak on the present day conditions existing in that country.

He is a speaker of unusual ability and while in China was able to win the confidence of the natives in a remarkable degree.

Dr. Dickson has been one of the speakers at the Young People's Conference conducted during the week at Rose Point. On Sabbath evening at 8:30 he will speak at the Camp Fire meeting which will be the concluding service of the Conference.

Heat Wave Kills Two Persons In Pittsburgh, Pa.

Rain Thursday Brings Much Relief To Sweltering Thousands

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—The heat wave which had cast its torrid spell all week up until rain brought relief last night caused two deaths in Allegheny county, in addition to numerous prostrations.

John Reilly, 55 of Carnegie, died from heat prostration, the coroner reported early to day. The other death attributed to the excessive heat was that of Boleslau Swimklinski, 22 who fell through a skylight when he went to the roof of a building to seek relief from the heat.

Three persons were in serious condition in McKeesport hospital as a result of the heat while mills and industrial towns reported many workers had to go home when they were overcome by the heat.

Fine clear weather brings out lots of auto drivers but doesn't seem to enable them to see other machines and pedestrians in time to prevent accidents, judging from the large number reported here.

Declares Relief Ten Herbs Gave Was Wonderful

New Castle Lady So Vastly Benefited Even Friends Note Great Change

"Ten Herbs has given me wonderful relief," was the recent statement of Mrs. Ora Kennedy, 2215 Hartman Street, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this popular preparation to crowds of men and women.

MRS. ORA KENNEDY

"Before using your medicine, I was alarmed at the way my health was slipping away," Mrs. Kennedy continued. "I suffered with indigestion. After eating, I would have great pain and discomfort. Gas would form, and I would feel as though I might vomit. I was terribly constipated—sometimes would go for days before getting relief. My liver became very sluggish, causing sick headaches. My skin was sallow, having large 'liver spots.' There were aches and pains in my back, and at times I felt so bad that life hardly seemed worth living.

"A neighbor induced me to try Ten Herbs, as I was willing to try almost anything for relief. As a result, my appetite is good, and I have been relieved of gas and other distress caused by indigestion. My liver has been helped so much that my skin has become clear. The pain has left my back, and my sleep is sound and restful. I really look like a different woman, and even friends have remarked about the great change for the better that has come over me. Ten Herbs has benefited me so much that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine.

More and more people of this section are reporting how Ten Herbs has relieved them of such ailing conditions as indigestion, gas, bloating, biliousness, dizziness, headaches, nervousness, pains and aches in the back, constipation, rheumatism, neuritis, and weak, run-down feeling.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Two Millions Worth Of Farm Products Raised Here In 1927

Lawrence county farms produced important field crops valued at $2,133,874 in 1927 and had livestock valued at $2,516,100 on January 1, 1928, according to figures contained in the annual Lawrence county crop and livestock report, just issued by the state department of agriculture.

Farms in the county produced 63,600 bushels of wheat valued at $79,500; 146,060 bushels of white potatoes valued at $192,799; 662,110 bushels of oats valued at $344,297; 428,670 bushels of corn valued at $454,390; 64,550 tons of hay valued at $852,060; 124,250 bushels of apples valued at $173,922 and 5,870 bushels of peaches valued at $12,327.

Horses and Mules

On January 1, 1928, it was estimated that Lawrence county had horses numbering 4,480 and mules numbering 160. The horses were valued at $582,400 and the mules at $18,240.

There were 11,900 milk cows and heifers valued at $1,225,700 and other cattle numbering 5,750 valued at $226,900. It was believed that sheep in this county numbered 8,150 which would bring their total valuation to $74,980. Swine numbering 8,070 valued at $155,750; chickens numbering 189,800 and valued at $222,060 and 1,460 hives of bees valued at $10,070 were additional livestock items on the report.

The farmers of Lawrence county have taken to "wheels" quite generally as figures show that there are approximately 1,500 farms that have automobiles, while 340 motor trucks and another 340 tractors have been registered on these farms. It seems quite strange that the approximate number of trucks is the same as that of the number of tractors. There are 600 farms in the county that have silos, 540 have gas engines and 1,320 have cream separators.

Radios play quite a large part in the lives of the country inhabitants, 460 of the homes being registered as having this modern-day instrument. There are 390 homes that have electric service; 1,080 of them have telephones, 490 have running water, 190 have bath rooms and 940 have heating systems, says the department's report.

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

From his triumphs and tribulations at Philippi, Paul pushed on a hundred miles westward to the city of Thessalonica to pass through similar experiences of triumph and tribulation. Our lesson speaks of but three Sabbath days' ministry, but we must infer that Paul spent many more weeks there. However, the record does not leave us to infer the character of his ministry, for we read that he "reasoned with them from the scriptures, opening and alleging that it behooved the Christ to suffer and to rise again from the dead; and this Jesus whom, said he, I proclaim unto you, is the Christ." There were many other things of a political or social nature of which the preacher might have spoken to these folks, but he confined himself to the scriptures and the light they threw upon Christ. Here, as a bit later at Corinth, Paul's policy was, "I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ and him crucified."

Idols Deserted at Thessalonica

The result of Paul's ministry at Thessalonica are told in our lesson in the words, "some of them believed, and consorted with Paul and Silas; and of the devout Greeks a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few." But the real 'before and after" are given us in the letter he wrote to these converts only a few months later in which he tells them how, far and wide, the churches were spreading abroad the story of their changed lives, and "how ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God; and to wait for his Son from heaven." The gospel had revolutionized the lives of these people and they got up from before their dumb idols and turned their faces heavenward in hope and expectancy to the true God.

A Complimentary Indictment

In the persecution that followed Paul's successes at Thessalonica his enemies lodged with the Roman authorities a charge which was more of compliment than condemnation. Here is the indictment with which they were charged: "These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also." What a tribute to the power of the gospel! How much more truly they spoke than they realized. This old world was upside down through the havoc wrought by sin, and the business of the missionary as he confronts its idoltries is to turn it right side up. In this sense the gospel is still revolutionary in the hearts of men and of nations. "Turning to God from idols" is indeed "turning the world upside down." Any one who doubts that the gospel has really turned the world upside down needs only contrast any idol worshipping nation with any Christian nation the world over. To this day the gospel has the same power to turn worlds upside down socially, industrially, racially, politically or internationally. We have dared to apply it to human slavery, and just now we are wondering if we dare apply it to the outlawry of war. In this sense the world still needs to be turned upside down.

The Nobility of the Bereans

From Thessalonica Paul and Silas fled 50 miles southwest to Berea to continue their work. Luke compliments the Bereans by saying of them, "These were more noble than those of Thessalonica in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so. Therefore many of them believed." This nobility of the Bereans was, first, the nobility of the open mind, in that they manifested a readiness of mind to receive the word preached to them. But it was not that openmindedness that swallows unquestioningly all that is offered it. This nobility of openmindedness was counterbalanced by the nobility of the critical mind, in that they checked up on the preacher by "searching the scriptures daily to see whether those things were so." The two belong together: the first as the antidote to religious prejudices; and the second is the antidote to religious gullibility. As Paul wrote to the Thessalonians in our lesson, "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good."

(The International Uniform Lesson for Sept. 2 is Acts 17:1-5 and I Thess 5:12-23, the subject being "Paul in Thessalonica," and the Golden Text, Psalm 119:130. "The entrance of thy words giveth light.")

Speed In Raising Italian Submarine Explained By American Navy Men

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Aug 31.—With all admiration for the efficiency of the salvage workers who raised the Italian submarine F-14 only thirty-four hours after the vessel's loss in collision with the destroyer Giuseppi Missori, navy department comment in Washington does not fail to emphasize the fact that the Adriatic disaster differed in many of its details from those connected with the sinking of the American submersible S-4 off Provincetown (Mass.), last December.

Naval experts naturally have been asked very pointedly why, since the Italians were able to bring the F-14 so speedily to the surface, approximately as good time was impossible in the case of the S-4, in which event at least a part of the latter craft's crew would have been saved.

The fact that the F-14's personnel all perished, due to the leakage of sea water into her hull and the formation of a suffocating gas through the mixture with sulphuric acid in her batteries, has no bearing on the tragedy of the S-4, it is pointed out, inasmuch as members of the American ship's company are known to have survived for several days after the mishap which sent her to the bottom of the Atlantic.

To begin with, as American submarine authorities sum up a comparison of the accidents—

The S-4 was on a practice cruise alone.

The F-14 was taking part, with many other ships of war, in meneuvers off the Italian naval base of Pola.

Time was unavoidably lost in finding the S-4 on the seabed, and still more was lost in bringing salvage vessels to the spot.

The F-14 was located by aeroplanes, from above, in approximately an hour after she had been sunk and salvage equipment was at hand for an immediate start on operations.

The F-14 was less than one-third the S-4's weight and consequently required far less power to lift.

The former had also gone down by the stern. That end of the hull was driven into the bottom of the Adriatic, but the bow inclined upward at an angle of about 45 degrees, leaving most of the hull free—somewhat, as it was described, like an arrow, held fast by the point, but otherwise swaying to and fro.

U. S. submarine S-4 being raised by pontoons off Provincetown, Mass.

The passing of cables under the boat was a simple performance, under the circumstances.

The S-4 had settled so far into the ocean bed by the time divers reached her that the only method of passing chains beneath her was by a slow, difficult and dangerous process of submarine tunnelling. Even so, the suction of the ooze upon the ship's bulk was tremendous—probably far in excess of her huge deadweight.

Both the Americans and the Italians had bad weather conditions to combat.

The Italians were able, however, to mobilize an adequate number of large craft to form a ring around the pontoons engaged in the lifting operation, affording them considerable protection. The Americans had no such fleet available.

The Adriatic, too, is practically without tides, which are high and erratic off the New England coast.

That American naval officers are not altogether satisfied with their salvage equipment, as tried out at the time of the S-4's loss, may perhaps be surmised from the fact that extensive additions are being made to it now.

That the Italians' rescue paraphernalia is not always and everywhere so conveniently within reach as it happened to be on the latest instance—of the F-14—is possibly to be inferred from the circumstance that not a trace ever has been found of their submarine Sebastino Veniero, lost somewhere off Siciliy in August, 1925, with 50 men on board.

Upon one point practically all navy men are agreed—

That the safety devices so freely suggested for submarines nearly all would detract from these vessels' military serviceability and, in many cases, would actually be exceedingly dangerous in time of war.

Plane Wheel Is Said Found On Iceland Coast

Believe Wheel Of Plane May Have Been From Rockford Plane, Missing For Sometime

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 31.—A possible clue to the fate of Bert Hassell and Paul Cramer, the American aviators who disappeared while attempting to fly from Rockford, Illinois, to Sweden via Greenland, was revealed today in dispatches from Reykjavik received by the Central News Bureau in Paris and relayed here.

According to reports from the Iceland capital, an airplane wheel perhaps from the missing fliers' plane, "The Greater Rockford," was found on the coast of Iceland.

The tire of the wheel bore mark "Pladdion Cord." Serial numbers on the tire have been cabled to Rockford.

Poor Yield This Year In Mercer County Corn Fields

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 31.—The only corn fields that will husk 100 bushel to the acre this year is located on very high ground that defied the rains of June and July stated T. C. White, county farm superintendent today, well known agriculturist.

The most of the crop will be a 65 per cent yield says White.

Normal corn crops in this county husk out 100 bushel to the acre.

German Doctor Finds Bacteria Cancer's Cause

By O. D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 31—Cancer is caused by auto-poisoning through intestinal bacteria turned virulent.

It is not caused by infection and is therefore not infectious.

Its cure consists in auto-vaccination which returns the virulent bacteria to their former non-virulent and even beneficial state.

This is the new doctrine propounded by Professor Dr. Eugene Bostroem, of the University of Giesen, in a book, "The Human Cancer," just published. If accepted it would entirely revolutionize the war against this deadliest of man's enemies.

Absorbed By Blood

According to Professor Bostroem, the bacteria which are normally present in the intestines and which ordinarily fulfill a useful and necessary function, may turn poisonous because of diverse internal and external influences. These bacterial poisons are absorbed by the blood, are spread through the body, damage the blood-forming cells, pollute the blood, impair the food distribution within the body and thereby weaken the body and reduce its resistance. In time, the poisons so irritate the germinal tissues of the blood vessels that a pathological growth of new cells results, especially since poison has killed off the hormone whose task it is to guard the delicate germinal tissues against damage.

The pathological growth of new cells is then the cancer.

Professor Bostroem arrived at his conclusions following the discovery that the cancer cells themselves were dead and could not multiply and that therefore the cancer growth must be produced by another "mother tissue." Bostroem finds this mother tissue in the germinal tissue of the blood vessels.

Over Fed People

Professor Botroem's doctrine also corresponds with the results of recent investigations showing that cancer is especially prevalent among the well-fed, or over-fed people.

His doctrine would also explain why all researches which started with the dead cancer cell itself which is merely the final product did not lead to any result.

The cure proposed by Professor Bostroem, therefore starts with a cure of the cause. The auto-vaccination is accomplished through the introduction of germs cultures which have been cultivated and then killed off but which are still active and capable of reconverting the poisonous bacteria to their former non- poisonous state.

Health Service Issues Typhoid Fever Warning

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—A warning to the country to take precautions against typhoid fever comes from the United States public health service.

It was not an alarmist statement, but advised that while typhoid fever may occur at any time during the year, it is most prevalent in the United States during the late summer and in the autumn months. Typhoid fever germs are taken into the body through the mouth with the food or drink, or by means of direct infection with flies.

"This history of the remarkable control of typhoid fever which has taken place in the United States within the past 20 years is one of the striking examples of the value of public health work," it was said.

"Typhoid fever which only a few years ago took a toll of more than 50,000 lives annually, is now responsible for the death of something less than 10,000 each year.

Develop Preventives

"Preventive medicine has developed to such an extent that we are sometimes prone to have a false sense of security and to neglect important fundamentals of sanitation. Eternal vigilance is the price of sanitation."

Three cardinal rules for prevention of the disease were outlined:

1. Swat the flies.
2. Boil all milk or water which is of doubtful purity.
3. Vaccinate or inoculate against the disease.

"Among the foods other than milk that are most likely to be exposed to infection and liable to convey typhoid fever are those eaten raw or uncooked," it was stated. "Well-cooked food or properly pasteurized or boiled milk or milk products are safe from the danger of conveying typhoid or other milk-borne or water-borne diseases.

"The necessity of inoculation against the fever should be emphasized at this period of the year. It is especially important that the inoculation be done before the vacation period begins.

Urge Vaccination

"It is an established fact that a person may be rendered comparatively safe from typhoid fever by inoculation. The duration of this immunity is not exactly known, but it is certainly safest to be vaccinated at least once in three years. The slight inconvenience attending the inoculation is a small price to pay for protection against so prolonged and so dangerous an illness as typhoid fever.

"There is no cause for alarm in regard to the reactions, either local or general, as they are of no importance except for the discomfort. Severe reactions are met with in less than one per cent of those injected. An advantageous time for the injection is about four p. m., so that if a reaction occurs it will be while the patient is in bed. For those employed in business successive Saturdays are convenient."

What?

haven't you heard about it?

DON'T you know that Black Flag—the deadliest insect-killer made—costs just one-half the price of other liquid insect-killers? Black Flag costs only 25 cents for a half-pint. Other liquid insect-killers cost 50 cents a half-pint. Black Flag is sure death to insects. It comes in two forms—liquid and powder.

Some prefer the Liquid to kill flying pests—flies, mosquitoes, etc.—the Powder to kill crawling pests—roaches, ants, bedbugs, fleas, etc. Powder, 15 cents up. Money back if not satisfied.

Whip Instilled Fear Of Hell Into Luther

Decrease in the number of whippings meted out to the youths of today may have much to do with growing inclinations of young people generally to look upon hell as an ancient and foolish religious myth.

Whereas the modern youth often can count on the fingers of one hand the number of times he has been taken out behind the family woodshed for parental discipline the ancients were accustomed to consider such punishment a part of every young person's life. Martin Luther according to the Woman's Home Companion owed some of his fame to the number of whippings he received for in one single forenoon he was chastised in that manner 15 times. From fear of his master in school Luther learned his early fear of hell which actuated him in his religious work during the remainder of his life.

He found no ecape from fear, relates the Companion "for dire punishment was visited on any boy who lapsed from Latin into German even in conversation and the monitor who watched out for this was called by the boys Lupus the Wolf."

School was Luther's hell and purgatory before he advanced to the point of fearing a religious devil and hell, says the magazine recounting the number of whippings to which Luther became accustomed.

Vatican Private Guards Dwindling In Numbers

(International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 31.—At the annual meeting of the Palatine Guards in the famous Vatican Gardens, it was noticed that the Pope's small army is diminishing.

Instead of the usual 400 well turned out men presenting themselves in full dress uniform with flashing sabres and chests covered with Papal decorations, only 200 were seen.

The four companies were assembled in the square in front of the Grotta of Lourdes where they heard mass and afterwards were passed in review by Lt. Col. Tabanelli, who presented the men to the Pope's Master of Chambers, Monsignor Caccia Dominione, where followed the taking of the oath of allegiance to His Holiness. Most of the officers and men who assisted at the ceremony received medals and promotions at the hands of the Monsignore.

Warns Farmers Of Poor Seed Wheat

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—Warning to farmers of the danger of poor seed wheat was issued by George A. Stuart head of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Markets after receiving reports of extremely poor wheat reaching terminal elevators.

Because of the wet harvest season more than three of every four cars of Pennsylvania wheat which have arrived at terminal elevators during the past month have contained an excessive amount of moisture, the moisture content ranging from 16 to 21 per cent. This has reduced the value of the wheat at least 12 cents a bushel.

Not a single carload received from Pennsylvania points has graded No. 1 and only 2 per cent has graded No. 2. Ninety-tree per cent graded "garlicky" and 10 per cent contained sufficient smut to reduce the value of the wheat at least 3 cents a bushel.

More than 20 per cent of the wheat received has been musty, heating and sour.

If the condition of wheat received at terminal elevators is at all representative of that remaining on the farm the farmers should by all means give serious consideration Mr. Stuart says, to the following statement of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"Unusual care in choosing seed wheat will be necessary this year in many areas where the harvest season was wet. Only wheat that is known not to have gone out of condition should be used for seed. Wheat that is musty, sour, heating or hot will not grow. Even slight heating in the bin may injure germination. If there is any doubt about the quality of the seed a germination test should be made."

Some European countries despise Americans and some are not on the regular tourist routes.

Rev. Walker To Preach Sunday At Greenwood Church

"God at Work"—The New Creation" will be the subject of an address in the Greenwood Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday afternoon 2:30 o'clock, by Rev. Walker. The church is located on the New Castle-Ellwood City paved highway. In the absence of the regular pastor, the speaker for next Sunday will "supply" in addition to his duties at the "Harmony" Baptist church. A cordial invitation has been extended to everybody to worship with this congregation, and hear about "The New Creation."

DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING

The school directors of Worth township held their regular meeting Monday evening at Center school. The following teachers were elected: Catharine Miller, Glenn school; Thelma Glenn, Zion; Margaret Studebaker, Wolf Creek; Mrs. Ralph Wimer, Kelly; Kathaleen Adams, Center, and Paul Wimer at Rocky Hill. The schools will start Monday, Sept. 3.

STATION ITEMS

Clara Wimer visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McClymonds and family spent Tuesday at Cascade Park.

John Stewart has returned home after spending a few days with relatives in Slippery Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Campbell and sons spent the week-end with relatives at Queen Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wimer and daughter, of Ellwood City visited the former's mother, Mrs. Nancy Wimer, Saturday.

Mrs. Verna Chipperfield and daughter Virginia, of Altoona, are spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller.

Dog Pound Chucked; ShotGun Is Favored

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 31.—The dog pound has failed to remedy the stray dog situation here, and today Chief of Police G. L. Grubb ordered a patrolman armed with a shotgun. He is instructed to shoot every dog on sight, instead of chasing it down and locking it up.

If that measure doesn't result in owners keeping their dogs tied or confined to their own properties, arrests will be made and fines imposed. The police report slips are littered with complaints about stray dogs in every section.

Those who have not yet enjoyed their vacation trips, will be surprised when they get out into God's open country and find out the great improvements that have been made recently in shaving cream, cigarets and tires.

New W. C. T. U. Building Completed In Capital

W. C. T. U. HEADQUARTERS

W. C. T. U. women of Lawrence County will have a special pride in the new Pennsylvania W. C. T. U. headquarters which has recently been completed in Harrisburg, Pa.

The property is located at 220 Pine street in close proximity to the capitol, and between two million dollar buildings, the Presbyterian church on one side and the Bell Telephone Co. building on the other.

The house is a substantial brick building. The lower floor has been nicely fitted up for office purposes with a beautiful reception room in the front. The other two stories will be rented until the business of the state expands and larger quarters are necessary to accomodate the workers.

The property cost $31,000. It is planned to dedicate it free of debt before or at the time of the 1928 convention in October.

A number of Unions of this city have contributed to this new building. The members of Central W. C. T. U. contributed $100.00 and the name of Mrs. Martha Ketler, past president of the Central Union will be placed on the honor tablet at the front entrance as well all those who contribute a like sum.

Former Local Man Receives Mention

History Of Charles H. Taylor Given In Current Issue Of Magazine

In the current issue of Water, the publication issued by the American Water Works and Electric Company for its employes, there is an extended article concerning Charles H. Taylor, a resident of this city for many years and a brother of Mrs. James Hamilton of Wallace avenue, and a son of the first superintendent of the water works of this city.

It was in this city that Mr. Taylor, who is one of the older and better known employes of the American Company, secured his first knowledge of water company work.

Mr. Taylor has been superintendent of the St. Joseph, Mo., water Company for 31 years and employe of the American Company for 41 years. He was born in Freeport, Pa., in 1860. His father moved to New Castle shortly after his birth to accept a position as chief engineer of an iron works, and as a result Charles H. Taylor received his early education here. After groduating from New Castle high school he took a commercial course in Duff's Commercial College in Pittsburgh.

First Work Here

He received his first initiation into the water works business in New Castle, when the plant was constructed. This was in 1880 and Mr. Taylor's father had charge of laying the distributing system. Charles Taylor had charge of checking the weight of the pipe and later assisted in caulking the lines. His father became superintendent here when the plant was completed and the son was employed as foreman on the distribution pipe system.

In 1884 Charles H. Taylor accepted a position as pipe laying foreman with the Pittsburgh Water and Gas Construction Company. In 1887 he accepted a position with the American Company. After working at various points for the American Company he assumed his duties as superintendent of the St. Joseph plant.

He is a prominent member of the Masonic bodies of St. Joseph and is a member of the supreme council of the Scottish Rite bodies, in other words, a 33rd degree Mason, and he has also been affiliated with the I. O. O. F. lodge of New Castle for the past 45 years.

Railroad Man Is Fatally Injured

GREENVILLE, Pa., Aug. 31.—Believed to have walked between two cars to fasten an uncoupled air hose on a siding of the Bessemer & Lake Erie yards north of Venanga yesterday afternoon, Morton J. Ross of 33 Vance street, Greenville, was fatally injured. He died a short time after being discovered.

Corner W. J. McGrath today pronounced the fatality an accident while in the employ of the company.

If Harry Sinclair should get another acquittal he would be just a little too cocky to have around.—Lansing State Journal.

J. S. Munnell, 93, Only Member Of Company "B" 134th Regt. At Reunion

Only Five Other Members Of Famous Civil War Regiment Are Now Alive

Spanish-American And World War Veterans Also Honored By Citizens

Company B, 134th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry held its annual reunion yesterday at the residence of Arnim R. Emery in Worth township, Butler county, Pa., near Moore's corners on the New Castle-Slippery Rock road.

Nearly 150 persons enjoyed the dinner in a huge log barn which is one of the pioneer landmarks of the neighborhood. The barn is on the Elliott farm on which Mr. Emery resides.

These reunions of Civil war veterans have been an annual event of this company for more than 40 years. Naturally the ranks of the veterans have been diminishing rapidly during the past few years. Only one survivor of the regiment, James S. Munnell of Slippery Rock township Lawrence county, was able to be present. Mr. Munnell will be 93 years old in March of this year. Despite his age he is in fair physical health and his mind appears to be as active as that of a man many years younger.

Veteran Present

Robert Taggart, who resides in the neighborhood was present. He was a member of Company B, 16th Pennsylvania regiment, Spanish American war. This was the late Captain Joseph V. Cunningham's company. Two members of the World war, C. E. Flack of Company B, 332nd regiment and George W. Stevenson, 7th Company 158th regiment were also present.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were, President, James S. Munnell; vice president, John McCurdy and Scott Munnell; secretary, Attorney William W. Stevenson and treasurer, Robert Stoner. The vice president, secretary and treasurer are sons of former members of the company.

The next reunion will be held on the last Thursday of August, 1929 at the residence of J. B. Studebaker in Worth township, Butler county. Mr. Studebaker is married to Miss Byrd Heckathorn, a daughter of John Heckathorn, a former member of Company 8, 134th regiment.

In Many Battles

Company 8, 134th was organized from young men who lived in the neighborhood of Princeton and Harlansburg, and went out under Captain McCune. The regiment participated in the battles of Antietam, South Mountain, were in the famous charge before Fredericksburg, and the siege of Chancellorsville. The regiment also helped to build a corduroy road to get Burnside's army out of the mud.

As far as known there are only six survivors of the regiment. They are James S. Munnell, Slippery Rock township, Lawrence county; Jacob E. Bentley, Wilmington, Ill.; John F. Williams, New Castle; James K. Mayberry, Topeka, Kan.; William H. H. Shaffer, New Castle and John B. Rodgers, New Castle.

Leesburg Man Is Badly Injured By Fall From Ladder

Mrs. R. J. Swanton of Norwood avenue has been called to Warren, O., by the critical condition of her father, Thomas McKarney, who is suffering from injuries sustained when he fell from a ladder at his home at Leesburg.

Mr. McKarney who is 79 years of age was endeavoring to repair a roof at his home. The ladder on which he was standing slipped and he was thrown to the ground. On account of his advanced age very little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Council Approves Contract Payments

City council in formal session today approved two payments to Olsen Contracting Company for city contracts. The company will get $2,809.10 for paving Leasure avenue west of Wilmington, and $2,244.38 for paving Norwood avenue between Albert and Highland avenue.

Veterans Name Boston Man As New Commander

Eugene P. Carver Of Boston To Lead Veterans Of Foreign Wars Association

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 31.—Eugene P. Carver of Boston, Mass., was elected national commander-in-chief of the Veterans for Foreign Wars at the closing session of the 29th annual encampment of the ex-soldiers' organization here today.

Carver got 330 votes and barely nosed out Patrick W. Kelly of Portland, Oregon, who was nominated for the same office this morning. Kelly got 317 votes.

Carver succeeded Frank Strayer of Indianapolis as national commander-in-chief.

So close was the election that John H. Hanken of Revere, Mass., department commander of the Revere V. F. W. Post fainted on the convention floor from the excitement attending the election.

Hanken's wife, Mrs. Bessie Hanken, elected national president of the Women's Auxiliary of the V. F. W.

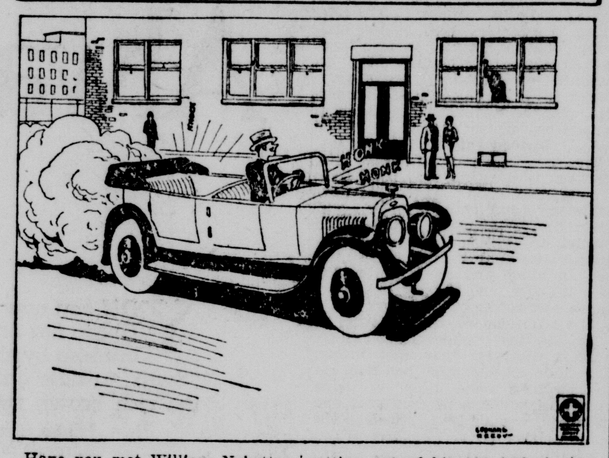
One of Our Most Detested Pests



Have you met William Nobetter, son of the mayor of Accidentville? Well, here he is, large as life and twice as natural, in the above picture. Will is calling on his best girl, who is shown leaning out of the window, in response to his tooting. The son of His Honor thinks that horns were made to supplant door bells. He wouldn't consider getting out of his car and ringing the bell but honks when he arrives at his sweetie's residence. This young pest is especially disliked by folks who are trying to sleep, nervous people and mothers who are endeavoring to get their babies to take a nap. The horn should be used as a warning signal only and not as a means of salutation, avers the National Safety Council.

Trade School Boys' Enrollment Starts Tuesday, Sept. 4

S. A. Martine, Director, States Registrations Should Be Made Early

GREATER NUMBER EXPECTED TO ENTER

Registration for boys in the New Castle public trade school at the Ben Franklin junior high will commence Tuesday, Sept. 14, and the office will be open from 12 to two p. m. for boys who wish to enter. Boys 14 years of age or over who have completed satisfactorily school work at least through the eighth grade are eligible to enroll.

Last year 89 boys were denied admittance, as the school was filled to capacity soon after registration, according to director of the trade school S. A. Martine.

Who Is Eligible

Anybody in school who is 14 and has completed the eighth grade is eligible. Not only these boys, but those who are in nine, 10 or 11, or even graduates of the senior high school, are eligible and welcome to attend the school and learn a trade. Last year there were several high school graduates who attended the automobile school and who learned the mechanic trade.

The building is equipped for all sorts of mechanical trade work, as well as carpentering and cabinet work and furniture finishing of every sort. Every kind of practical experience is afforded to the pupils, states Mr. Martine.

The statement made by Mr. Martine concerning the work of the trade school and its benefits to the fellow who decided to learn a trade follows:

"According to U. S. statistics seven out of 10 young men seek employment in the industries. If the young man is mechanically inclined and mathematically capable, his chances for success are far greater in a trade school than in an academic course.

"We teach mathematics with a definite aim. It has a practical application, as well as it is a necessity. Every study has a particular application to the trade that the boy is entering.

Auto Shop

"The auto shop offers an exceptional opportunity to those fellows who wish to become mechanics, as well as those who are interested in aeronautics. There is every sort of practical work on autos: grinding, milling, boring, tool dressing, heat treating and a score of other things that the good mechanic should know.

"The electric shop equips the boy for a dozen fields of employment, from wiring to trouble shooting and repairing. The course is also preparatory to engineering.

"The cabinet shop is fitted to turn out capable cabinet makers. The finishing department here equips and trains one to lacquer, varnish and enamel, while employment may be obtained after taking the two-year course in general repairing, interior trimming or a finisher in lacquer, enamel or varnish."

Divided Into Periods

The trade school itself, stated Mr. Martine, is divided into six periods of one hour each. Three of these hours are spent daily in shop work, while the remainder of the time is devoted to English, history, physics, mathematics and mechanical drawing. A lunch and recreation period of one hour and 15 minutes gives ample rest to pursue the work again in the afternoon, says Mr. Martine.

Mr. Martine is expecting a greater number this year than ever before. The trade school, which has been established for some time, is doing more and better work each year and new equipment is being added to the shops as time goes along.

Belgium Plans Congo Tomb In Akeley's Honor

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Belgian government, through Prince Albert de Ligne, its ambassador to the United States,, has asked permission of Mrs. Mary L. Jobe Akeley, widow of Carl Akeley, noted African explorer, to place a commemorative tablet of bronze on the tomb of Akeley, who was buried where he died in the heart of the Belgian Congo.

The request which was made officially by M. Jasper, prime minister of Belgium and minister of the colonies, has just been received by Mrs. Akeley. M. Jasper says "this action is desired as a token of the admiration of the Belgian government for the great American scientist" and adds that he wishes Mrs. Akeley to consider the offer as a kind tribute to the memory of her husband and herself.

Died in Congo

Akeley died suddenly November 17, 1926, on the slopes of Mt. Mikeno in the Parc National Albert of the Belgian Congo, where he and Mrs. Akeley were on a mission from Albert, king of the Belgians.

Mrs. Akeley, aided by other members of the exploration party and her black boys, prepared his grave in the solid volcanic rocks, and built a coffin of native mahogany, metal lined, and upholstered with soft woolen blankets. An eight-foot stockade of mahogany posts was erected around the burial plot to prevent encroachments of the jungle.

A great cement slab, the material for which Mrs. Akeley had her black boys carry from a government post 100 miles distant, bears the explorer's name and date of his death.

The bronze tablet which Belgium purposes to dedicate to Akeley's memory, will surmount this cement slab. On a future expedition Mrs. Akeley plans personally to supervise the placing of this tablet on her husband's grave.

Was Made Leader

Following her husband's death Mrs. Akeley was made leader of the expedition by the American Museum of Natural History. She remained in camp on Mt. Mikeno by her husband's grave for seven weeks and completed the survey of Parc National Albert and obtained scientific observations on the mountain gorilla and his environment begun by Akeley in 1921.

Mrs. Akeley on her return to Brussels was decorated by Belgium with the Cross of the Knight of the Order of the Crown in recognition of her successful work.

China Battles To Retain Its Dragon Symbol

SHANGHAI, Aug. 31.—The majority of the Chinese residents of this city are viewing with some displeasure the recent order of the Nationalist government which threatens to do away with their beloved dragon, which to them is a symbol of everything gorgerqus and ornate.

In the future, so the order states, simplicity will be the keynote of all Chinese ceremonials, thus dispensing with the dragons and other elaborate equipment common to Chinese public functions.

At a meeting at Nanking of the committee on ceremonial rites and national costumes, composed of representatives of the various ministeries and bureaus, it was decided that ceremonial rites must be based on principles of economy, simplicity and appropriateness.

An atmosphere of joy and happiness must prevail at weddings; that of sorrow at funerals, and that of silent reverence at sacrificial ceremonies. Regarding national costumes, the committee announces that the principles of simplicity, beauty, convenience, hygiene and economy oe emphasized. Native material will also be extensively used.

The ceremonial rites to be devised by the committee have reference to wedding, funeral, sacrificial ceremonies and social functions. National costumes will be divided into the following classes; men civilians, women, military, students, government officials, judicial officers and foreign affairs officials.

The committee is now inviting suggestions from public organizations and individuals throughout the country in order that the most appropriate ceremonial rights and national costumes may be devised.

Science Still Seeks Homes Of Lowly Eel

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The eel, most mysterious of the strange creatures which swarm the land and sea, is still an enigma to science, says the U. S. bureau of fisheries.

This reptile-like fish, which is a cannibal, spawns only in the middle of the ocean, and after a regular but devious long journey returns there to end his life.

The scientists have been unable to locate the spawning grounds but one German oceanologist after much research, has announced a theory that both European and American eels spawn in the extreme depths near the Bermuda islands.

The European eel takes two years to pass from the egg to the fish stage, the American eel a single year. The small eels appear on the sea-coasts and ascend high into the rivers. After growing to maturity the European eels, if not caught and eaten, turn west to return to their birthplace to spawn and disappear. The American eels turn east and return to their mysterious sea-depths.

On their arrival in American waters the eels are small. Those arriving in Chesapeake Bay are about two and one-half inches long.

The eel is omniverous, consuming not only smaller eels but other fish, especially the spawn of shad and herring. For this reason the Maryland authorities have frequently experimented wtih means to destroy the eels in Chesapeake Bay.

Americans have a prejudice against eating the eel because of its resemblance to the snake, but in Europe there is no such prejudice, and the European eel fisheries are of considerable importance economically and gastronomically.

Local Manufacturer Lauds Achievements Of Herbert Hoover

Up in the display window of the Seavy Studio has been a picture for the past week or so which has attracted more or less attention. The picture is one showing Charles J. Kirk, president of the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing Company, shaking hands with Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for the Presidency.

In itself the picture is interesting, but the history back of it rather shades the interest in the picture itself. It was taken last October when Mr. Kirk was in Washington, D. C., attending a conference of pottery manufacturers with the then Secretary of Commerce, Herbert Hoover.

Standardizing Ware

Out of that conference and other similar ones came a standardizing of sanitary ware which has meant that instead of making 30 or 40 sizes of ware, manufacturers now make but three or four, thus reducing the cost of production and obviating to consumers the necessity of making selections out of a myriad of sizes.

"The work Herbert Hoover has done in this particular field is of immeasurable value to the country at large," said Mr. Kirk. "Not alone in the sanitary field, but in many other lines of endeavor he has succeeded in bringing about a set of standard sizes that means efficiency and satisfaction."

"At the time of our conference," said Mr. Kirk, "I said to Mr. Hoover that I hoped he would be the next President of the United States, and it is my opinion that he will. The colossal genius of the man, his limitless capacity for organization and execution, and his wide grasp on international affairs fit him for the Presidency in a way that few men have ever gone before the people of this nation."

Business in Government

"He has carried into the work of the government the same splendid efficiency that characterized him in his own work, and as a result of that efficiency the consulates of the United States in the various countries are now functioning like business offices. Let me give you a concrete example:

"I was on a business trip through South America and wanted to introduce Universal ware into these countries. In Rio de Janeiro I found that through the installation of a municipal sewer system by British interests it was impossible for an American manufacturer to break in there. This, of course, was an unusual condition, and to me looked like a smart business trick. The residents of the city could use the sewer system only if they used British-made ware.

"In Montevidio I looked up our consul, expecting only perfunctory attention. When I told him my mission he pulled out a card index file and showed me the names of all jobbers in that district. Frankly surprised, I asked him if this was the usual condition, that I had thought the consulate offices were filled with men who were owed political favors.

"His reply was: 'under the present secretary of commerce, Mr. Hoover, this system is in vogue in all our consulates'. And I found this to be true. In Lima, in Buenos Aires and in the other cities I found that the consuls had card indexes of all jobbers, manufacturers and dealers and that these were for the use of American manufacturers.

Mississippi Flood Relief

"The same thoroughness characterized Hoover in the Mississippi flood relief work. Working with little fanfare of bugles or ballyhoo, he organized the relief work down there, fed the refugees and checked the spread of disease.

"He is a modest man, and if the average American knew his outstanding work in the work of the Department of Commerce alone, there would be no question what the result would be."

The play, "Eyes of Love", given by two Sabbath school classes of White Chapel church at Indian Run Grange hall Thursday and Friday nights of last week, was a decided success. Also the music given between acts was appreciated by all present. Joe, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rodgers of Wilmington avenue, New Castle, played his harp and sang two songs which brought down the house Thursday night. Much praise is due Rev. L. W. Miller, who coached the play. The sum of $80.65 was realized from the play.

Bodies Of Fliers Are Sent Home To Burying Grounds

Bodies Of M. M. Merrill And Edwin Ronne, Are Placed On Trains

(International News Service)

MILFORD, Pa., Aug. 31.—Accompanied by a small, silent group of their aviator pals, the bodies of Mazel (Merry) Merrill and Edwin Ronne, two of the nation's popular air heroes, their bodies crushed in the crash that spread their plane over the rugged Pike county hills during Monday's dense fog, were homeward bound today on their last journey.

Ronne's body was placed on the train here last night bound for Arizona, as his friends stood with bowed heads. Three hous later the body of his companion was loaded aboard the train for Jersey City, where it was to be transferred today to a train that would take it to the home of his relatives in Utah.

Crushed and torn almost beyond recognition by the crash of their plane in the wilderness and swamps six miles north of here, the bodies of the aviators were recovered yesterday and brought here, where Coroner C. M. Ludwig returned a verdict of "accidental death due to a nose-dive of their plane while flying through a fog."

"Blind Charlie" Rests Easily In Hospital

"Blind Charlie," the organ grinder, who was shot night before last at Rose Point, rested easily last night, according to the report from the New Castle hospital this morning. His condition is as good as can be expected under the circumstances, was the statement of hospital authorities.

No knowledge of how long Charlie will be confined or what the result of his wounds may be, can be given by the hospital attendants. He may and he may not be all right, and only time will tell. It is thought however that he will recoverly entirely from the wound unless something unexpected happens.

Woman To Start Hunt For "Ideal" Across Country

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.— Miss Helen Davis is going hunting for a husband.

So today she issued an appeal for four women "who have not found their ideal mate" to accompany her in a drive across the continent to Los Angeles in the search for husbands. Her only requirement is that her companions have $200 each to help pay expenses.

Miss Davis, who is 32 and attractive, said her ideal must be at least 40 years old, must be a brunette, be fond of travelling and be wiling to put up $5,000 to educate her younger brother.

"But he has got to appeal to me," she added. "I wouldn't marry the king of England if he didn't."

Levine To Attempt Atlantic Flight From Paris, Says

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Announcing that they had decided to make their trans-Atlantic attempt from Paris instead of from one of the English flying fields, Charles A. Levine, Miss Mabel Boll, "Queen of Diamonds", and Bert Acosta, took off from Croydon field for Le Bourget flying field today.

Acosta was at the controls. The flying trio took all their luggage with them, explaining that Croydon officials had refused permisison for the use of the field for a trans-Atlantic attempt and that other English fields were unsuitable.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—After an eight-hour fight, firemen early today extinguished a fire which caused $35,000 damage to the National Electric and Fixture building here.

Firemen John Miller was overcome by dense fumes and taken to a hospital, where his condition was reported not serious.

The fire is believed to have started from crossed electric wires. Burning insulation filled the building with smoke so thick that firemen could not remain long enough to make any headway. The blaze started at ten o'clock last night and was not brought under control until six o'clock this morning.

Two Boys Drowned In Mill Dam While Attending Outing

(International News Service)

REAMSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 31.—Harold Sandoe, 17, and Stewart Herb, 15, both of Rosedale, near here, died after being partially revived after they were taken from the mill dam near here where they were in the water about twenty-five minutes.

The youths were swimming when they went beyond their depth and sank. Other members of their outing party recovered the bodies about 25 minutes later and physicians and farmers worked for four hours in an attempt to revive them. At one time a faint trace of life was seen, but the boys died, apparently from exhaustion.

Investigation Of "Ambulance Chasers" Is Now Being Made

"Ambulance chasing" has become such a nuisance in Youngstown that a commission appointed by the court is now conducting an investigation. An "ambulance chaser" is an attorney who solicits business as quick as he hears of an accident in which a person has been injured. It is considered unethical from the lawyer's standpoint, and the present investigation has been investigated by reputable members of the Mahoning county bar. It is claimed that the profession is suffering in prestige and standing as the result of the tactics of the "ambulance chasers." They do not confine themselves to Youngstown, but invade surrounding towns. Almost as soon as an accident of any consequence happens in New Castle, there is sure to be an ambulance chaser of his representative here to see the supposed injured parties and urge them to bring suit for damages. New Castle does not have any "ambulance chasers" in the legal profession.

LOCAL FLIERS IN TORONTO

Ralph R. Kegarise, president of the Kegarise Air Transport, Inc., of this city, and his pilot, Herbert Sherman, arrived safely at the Toronto flying field at 2:10 p. m. Thursday, word received here this morning indicated.

The two local men left the Jackson field airport on the New Wilmington road at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, bound for the Canadian City, where they will be the guests of the Toronto Flying Club until Saturday.

The return trip will probably be made Saturday. Mrs. Kegarise, who has been in that city for some time, is expected to accompany them on this trip.

Matrons Enjoy Guest Day At Country Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.—Twenty tables were laid for the guest day luncheon at the Ellwood Country club Thursday afternoon. Summer flowers formed a dainty decoration and a delectable menu was enjoyed.

During the luncheon Mrs. Selkovitz of Aliquippa a musician of note rendered lovely selections on the piano. For her encore she gave a little negro number that was especially pleasing.

Bride was the order of entertainment during the afternoon and at the conclusion of play membership score honors were won by Mrs. Frederick of Beaver Falls and Mrs. Weiscoph. Guest favors were captured by Mrs. Thomas Evans of Pittsburgh and Mrs. William Moore also of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. B. M. Lawther, Mrs. Theodore Markwort and members of the general committee capably managed the affair.

Out of town guests were Miss Frances Sloane of Canton, Mrs. Thomas Evans and Mrs. William Moore of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Clyde Perrstt, Mrs. John Gaston, Mrs. Mooney and Mrs. H. M. Myers of Beaver Falls, Mrs. Ed Neiman and Mrs. S. Selkovitz of Aliquippa, Mrs. Ward of Tennessee and Miss Weiscoph of New Brighton.

Many Pay Homage To Mrs. Laird

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.— The Close home on Wayne avenue was crowded with sorrowful friends Thursday evening when short services were conducted for Mrs. Sophia Laird, prior to the shipping of the body to Shelby, Ohio, for burial.

Rev. Robert Little of the Methodist church gave a short sermon, and Mrs. H. E. Helling sang "Abide Witn Me", accompanied at the piano by her daughter Miss Jean.

Mrs. Laird was buried today in the family lot in the Shelby cemetery, beside her husband who preceded her in death some time ago. A son, Frank Gribben of Cyoga Falls was present at the services.

Kiwanians Hear Rev. Jock Lambert

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.—Thirty-two members of the Kiwanis club assembled in the dining room of the Lutheran church to hear Rev. Jock Lambert of the Rochester club give his versions of the activities of the International convention of Kiwanis clubs which took place in Seattle in June.

His talk was extremely interesting to the club members and his clever word pictures of the many exciting events brought the entire convention right into the dining room.

Rotarians Hear District Governor

ELLWOOD CITY Aug. 31—Members of the local Rotary club enjoyed an address by Harry Whyle of Uniontown, and district governor of Kiwanis clubs.

His topic was Rotary clubs and their work in this country and was well received.

Held As Son Slayer

Arthur F. Falk, Chicago, Ill., park commissioner, held for arraignment on a charge of murder following the fatal shooting of his son, Eldridge, age 22, at their home during a quarrel. Falk blamed the quarrel on moonshine liquor. The son remonstrated with Falk's treatment of the boy's mother and in the resulting quarrel was shot with a gun Falk had given him as a Christmas gift, according to the father's confession to police.

M. A. Bickett Speaks To Men

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.—The Honorable M. A. Bickett, representative in the general assembly was the speaker at a meeting of the Men's club of the Slippery Rock church Thursday evening.

He chose as his theme "Christians' Responsibilities to the church, to the Home and as Citizens." His discourse showed careful thought and was very interesting.

Later delicious refreshments were served and the 40 men present enjoyed a social period.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS.

Miss Mary Louise Davis of Park avenue spent yesterday in Pittsburgh.

Constable H. W. Christy is confined to his home on Spring avenue by illness.

Prof. and Mrs. Oscar Hun and daughter and Mrs. Carl Arnold and daughter of Solsberg, Pa., are guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Minteer today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Zeigler, Jud Leibendorfer and Miss Ruth Haines left this morning for Detroit to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Goodrich of that city. Jud Leibendorfer will remain during the winter and attend school there.

Miss Lucy Glass of Harrisburg head of the Extension Education department of the state returned to her home today, concluding a visit at the home of Mrs. T. L. Haines. While in town she coached Mrs. Joe Young who will teach a class of foreign mothers in the school this winter.

Isaac Newton Reunion Well Attended Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.—Relatives and friends of the Isaac Newton family numbering 150 enjoyed a reunion at Ewing Park Thursday afternoon and evening.

A tureen dinner was enjoyed at noon, and during the afternoon hours a business session took place with election of officers as follows: President, W. E. Newton; Vice-President, John Lattimer; Secretary, Mrs. Sara Wilson and Treasurer, Mrs. Jenny Kelly.

Members of the Table committee were: Mrs. T. J. Newton, Mrs. W. G. Tully and Mrs. Emma Walker. Members of the Sports committee were: Mrs. Elta Newton, Mrs. Sara Challis, Harold Newton and Joe Andrews. M. A. Newton had charge of the coffee and a fine time was enjoyed by the members of the family and friends.

Guests were present from Sharon, Franklin, Beaver Valley, Pittsburgh, and New Castle.

Mrs. Stiner Is Club Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.— Mrs. Charles Stiner of Ewing Park entertained the members of the T. N. T. club at their first fall meeting, Thursday evening in her home.

Three tables of bridge were in play, and a profusion of summer flowers formed pretty decorations. At the conclusion of play, score honors went to Mrs. William Bayers.

Later delectable refreshments were served by the hostess, and a social period was enjoyed. In two weeks Mrs. Von Krogh of Second street is scheduled to entertain.

Alma Lodge Enjoys Corn Roast Inside

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.— The rain yesterday did not dampen the spirits of the members of the Alma lodge who had planned to have a corn roast in Ewing Park. They merely changed the location to the Pythian Social club on Fourth street, and proceeded to have just as good a time.

Corn and weiners formed the menu, and the evening was spent in card games. E. B. Baker headed the committee in charge.

CRAVEN REUNION.

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 31.—The second annual reunion takes place on Labor Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cole of Wampum road. At noon a tureen picnic dinner will be enjoyed and the afternoon will be devoted to a program. All friends and relatives of the family are invited.

The Story Of Our War With Spain
An American Army Sails For Santiago

AT THE OUTBREAK OF THE WAR WITH SPAIN THE UNITED STATES WAR DEPARTMENT HAD PLANNED AN ATTACK ON HAVANA, AND A FORCE OF REGULARS WAS GATHERED AT TAMPA, FLORIDA, IN READINESS FOR ORDERS TO EMBARK FOR CUBA.

THEN CERVERA'S SQUADRON WAS BOTTLED UP IN SANTIAGO HARBOR BY THE AMERICAN FLEET, AND SAMPSON'S CALL FOR AN ARMY TO COOPERATE IN THE CAPTURE OF SANTIAGO SHIFTED THE SCENE OF MILITARY OPERATIONS TO THE EAST COAST OF CUBA.

MAJOR-GENERAL SHAFTER WAS GIVEN COMMAND OF AN AMERICAN "ARMY OF INVASION" WHICH SAILED FOR SANTIAGO UNDER CONVOY OF WARSHIPS ON JUNE 14, 1898. THIS ARMY NUMBERED 16,887 MEN, AND WAS MADE UP OF REGULARS AND A FEW REGIMENTS OF VOLUNTEERS.

IT CONSISTED OF TWO DIVISIONS OF INFANTRY UNDED BRIGADIER GENERALS LAWTON AND KENT. A DIVISION OF CAVALRY COMMANDED BY MAJOR-GENERAL JOSEPH WHEELER. FOUR BATTERIES OF LIGHT AND TWO OF HEAVY ARTILLERY

DATTO AND McFARLAND CLASH MONDAY

Dugan Matched To Box Stahura

EXPECT ACTION IN FOUR-ROUND BOUTS

Johnny Datto, Filipino pugilistic assassin, will return here Monday night, when he stacks against Jack McFarland, credited with being the most rugged and best featherweight in the tri-state district, and as Datto knocked out U. S. Carpentier in six rounds, McFarland will strive to keep his reputation free from fistic stain by dropping the brown boy from across the Pacific.

"If I did not believe that McFarland can stop Datto I would not put him into the ring with the murderous brown boy," said James Buchanan, also the manager of Willie Davies, when he signed articles for McFarland. "Jack has a jaw of iron, a heart of oak, is fast and can hit far better than any of the featherweights I have seen lately."

"I am glad to have heard those remarks," said Jimmie Dunn, manager of Datto, as he penned the Filipino's name to a contract. "Johnny is a good fighter, one of the best in the world, and if McFarland can beat Datto there will not be much chance of the brown lad counting on winning the featherweight championship."

Picturesque Battler

To be frank, no more picturesque fighter has ever appeared in a ring than Datto. He has whipped some of the really great boys, but has also tasted of defeat. McFarland has been fighting for years in this district, and according to Buchanan is ripe for the "big boys" of the game. In meeting Datto he is to receive a test of pugilistic acid. Datto is cunning, clever and can hit hard with either hand.

Mickie Dugan, the boy with the green tights, who has whipped every opponent he has fought here, will battle Andy Stahura, Pittsburgh featherweight, in the six-round semi-final. Andy is as tall as Monte Serko and rated a few notches better, and it looks as though Dugan is in for a hot evening.

Hoak Rated Better

Last night Duke O'Hara, McKeesport, telephoned to Bill Jolly that Jimmie Belmont had fallen in the gymnasium and had injured a shoulder and would be unable to box Walter Dickerson, which is one blow not liked. However, Jess Hoak, rated better than Belmont, accepted the fight and will battle Dickerson.

Ray Compton and Johnny Busang, young rivals from the Beaver valley, have the fans in that section keyed to a high pitch of excitement and will come here Monday night, followed by 500 loyal supporters. Elmo has gone into hard training for Henry Miller and it looks like a knockout in the first three bouts.

Change Starting Time

On account of daylight saving time coming to an end Saturday, the first bout will start at 8:15 p. m., eastern standard time. Formerly the battles commenced at nine p. m. Five thousand fans are expected to crowd the bowl Monday night, as Datto is one of the best and McFarland will try to climb the ladder over Datto's body.

Babe Ruth Hits His 47th Homer

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Babe Ruth is seven days and four runs ahead of his 1927 record. The "King of Swat" hit his forty seventh homer yesterday off Sam Jones in the seventh inning of the Yankee-Senator game. The homer was the only run scored by the Yanks.

SORDS POINTS

Uhle To Be Next Great Pitcher Turned Into Star Outfielder?

Will George Uhle become another Babe Ruth? That question puzzles the Cleveland Indians and bothers the seven other clubs in the American league.

It is hardly logical to presume that Uhle may ever approach the great Yankee slugger in slamming them to the far corners, but there is a possibility that the erstwhile Indian mound star may become a first-rate outfielder.

At least, such is George's plan at this time.

Uhle has exhibited signs of weakening as a pitcher this year. Starting out great guns this season he has become just an ordinary hurler. Trouble with his elbow is believe to have caused the Tribe pitcher to be forced either to change his style of delivery or seek another position to play.

Babe Ruth became an outfielder when his batting became such a factor in his play that he had to be used in the field every game that he didn't pitch.

Smoky Joe Wood, a great pitcher in his day, became an outfielder for Cleveland when his pitching arm gave out.

FIGHTING FOR THE FLAG

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Sports Writer for Central Press and Uew Castle News

How the teams finished in 1923.

National League		Amer. League
New York	.621	New York	.645
Cincinnati	.591	Detroit	.539
Pittsburgh	.565	Cleveland	.536
Chicago	.539	Wash.	.490
St. Louis	.516	St. Louis	.487
Brooklyn	.494	Phila.	.454
Boston	.351	Chicago	.448
Phila.	.325	Boston	.401

But for a few interesting "by-products" of the major league races the season of 1923 would have been a flop. The New York Giants stepped out and romped home with their third pennant in a row. The Yankees won their third in succession.

The Yankees took the lead the first week in May and wound up the season 17 games ahead of the Detroit Tigers, runners up. And the startling spurt of the Detroit club in the closing weeks of the race was about the only team sensation. The Athletics had held second through May and June. Cleveland had succeeded them and carried on through July, August and September. Meanwhile the Tigers and the St. Louis Browns argued about third place. And the Yanks won.

Meanwhile, however, Walter Johnhad passed the 100 mark in shutouts. Tris Speaker had set a new record for two-base hits with 59, a record later broken by George Burns of Cleveland.

Lee Fohl started his third year as pilot of the St. Louis Browns and resigned before the season ended. Frank Chance failed as manager of the Boston Red Sox. Donie Bush managed th Washington Senators—only to be eased out.

The Giants' feat in repeating previous triumphs was noteworthy in that John McGraw struggled through a hectic season with an uncertain pitching staff. Jack Bentley, Rosy Ryan, Jack Scott, Henry Watson, Jess Barnes, Claude Jonnard and Art Nehf pitched creditably at times but not consistent ball at any time.

For the second season the Cincinnati Reds, while unable to land the bunting themselves, had the satisfaction of easing the Pirates out of second place. Pat Moran, the Reds manager, died during the training season.

The Giants finished the season just four and one-half games ahead of the Pirates.

STAHLMAN TO PILOT CAR IN AUTO RACE

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 31—Lafe Stahlman, veteran Western Pennsylvania pilot, who was the winner in the initial 100-mile race at the New Kensington speedway and has been triumphant in conquests of speed frequently on the local course and others in the tri-state district, has decided to cast his fortunes in the holiday 50-mile 100-lap gasoline derby on the track here Labor Day.

Stahlman was a visitor to the Pittsburgh headquarters of the sponsors of big holiday card of speed races at 220 South Mathilea street this morning to deliver personally his signed entry. He declared that he is now the possessor of the fastest raving creation it has ever been his good fortune to own. Stahlman is quite confident that he will not be in the background when the checkered flag is given to the victor.

This well-known pilot is like many big league stars, he claims a small city as his residence—Brookville, Pa. It was returnning from a social visit to the Steel City that he decided to stop off to assure the sponsors of the holiday attraction that he would not be among the missing when Starter Dave Donaldson commences the spectacles that have been arranged to stage for the residents of Butler and elsewhere a speed spectacle to give them a holiday.

Stahlman's last two appearances on the track here were in the Decoration Day and July Fourth events when he lost out by a close margin in the 100-mile classics that gave victory to Herbert Fechter, the elongated Pittsburgh pilot, who won well-earned victories in these gasoline derbies. He found it necessary to tool his car with the best of his skill to keep trailing the daring drivers who were setting a terrific pace for him and his rivals even, as they had found wealthy backers to purchase them cars of the speed way caliber.

Since Stahlman has been given the assurance that he will not again have to go the honorable humiliation of losing after speeding up his car to the limit of its endurance backed up by the skill gained in many years behind the wheel, he continues the repetition of his statement that he will win.

Besides the headline event of 50-mile, the program will include a 10-mile stock car event and a five and 10-mile motor-cycle race.

Bucknell Gridders To Report Shortly

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., Aug 31.—The 1828 gridiron squad of Bucknell University will report for practice here on Sept. 3, it was learned today. Prospects for a successful season are bright for several veterans are expected to return this fall.

NEGRO FIGHTER KAYOES CHAMP

Young Jack Thompson, Negro From California Kayoes Joe Dundee

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Young Jack Thompson, negro, from Los Angeles, today is a sensational, overwhelming figure in the welterweight division following his two-round knockout over the world's champion, Joe Dundee, here last night. The latter's title did not pass to the colored challenger, however, as they fought one pound above the welterweight limit.

It was a tremendous victory on the part of the western boxer, the bout ended as a technical knockout when Referee Ed Purdy stepped between the black man and the groggy champion in the second round and stopped the fight after Dundee had been floored twice by the deft attack of the challenger. Pudy's judgment seemed to be excellent, as Dundee was out on his feet, helpless and blindly groping at the ropes.

Thompson weighed 148⅛ pounds, and Dundee scaled 147½. The welterweight limit is 147. Nine thousand fans paid $26,000 to see the show.

Godfrey-Charles Battle Tonight

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—Two of the largest contenders for the vacant heavyweight throne clash tonight in Navin field, when George Godfrey, Philadelphia colored giant, battles Pieere Charles, heavyweight champion of Belgium.

Charles will scale close to 205 pounds while Godfrey will be 25 pounds heavier.

Ten thousand persons are expected to pay in excess of $20,000 to view the programme. This is Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmon's estimate and it may be the final outdoor show staged here this season by Fitz.

Elmer "Slim" McClelland will referee the main bout.

HORNSBY SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—The Braves today can look forward to six years under the leadership of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Boston Nationals and veteran second baseman.

Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston club, revealed that Hornsby has signed a three year contract in addition to his first contract guaranteeing his services for three years.

MILLER HUGGINS

If the Yankees are successful in winning the American league pennant this year, it will be their sixth in 11 years under the leadership of Miller Huggins.

This mite of a man began winning flags for New York in 1921. He repeated in the following two years before being beaten out in 1924 by Washington. Again in 1926 he led his team to the top after finishing seventh the year before. Last year was his fifth pennant winner.

Before coming to the Yankees in 1918 Huggins managed the St. Louis National league club from 1913 until 1917.

Waters-Gilliland Lead In Gun Shoot

Rain failed to curtail the activity of the Mahoning Gun Club in their weekly shoot staged Thursday night at the Mahoningtown range. Waters and Gilliland led the gunners in 50 and 25 bird shoots.

The next shoot of the club will be staged on Thursday September 6, at 5 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

Opening Game Of Twilight Series Set For Saturday

Rain Causes Postponement Of First Game Of Series Thursday Night

GAME IS CALLED FOR 3:30 O'CLOCK

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

Jupiter Pluvis and his exhibition of rainfall last night caused the postponement of the first game of the Twilight league championship series at Centennial field. The first game will be staged on Saturday at the local ball park. The game will start at 3:30 D. S. T. Wampum and Ryantown are the contending teams.

The ball field yesterday was soaked by a heavy deluge and unfit for play. The managers had their teams on hand but no game could be played.

The same pitchers that were supposed to have worked last night will tangle on tomorow afternoon. Boone for Wampum and Lintz for Ryantown.

Both teams are on edge for their series and the postponement of yesterday only added fuel to the fire. A good game is expected when Umpires Price, Nolte and Diana call "Play Ball." The admission is 50 cents for men and 25 cents for ladies.

Army Gridders To Report Saturday

(International News Service)

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 31. — With 72 cadets at the U. S. Military Academy reporting for first football practice tomorrow, Captain "Biff" Jones, head coach of the Army team starts active preparation for one of the hardest schedules a West Point team has ever attempted. Football practice opens on the same day as the start of the academic year.

The first workout, says Jones will be light, Frank Wandle, who enters his sixth year as trainer of Army teams, will start his training able with breakfast Sunday morning.

Football Team To Break Camp Saturday

Thursday Gala Day For Candidates In 1928 Encampment

Twenty-Eight Young Gridders At Camp Ne-Ca-Hi Tanned To Perfection

Coach Bridenbaugh Gloomy Over Backfield; Gardner Host At Chicken Dinner

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Thursday was a gala day at the New Castle high school football camp at Muddy Creek Falls. The 28 young candidates had two things to be very thankful for. Rain and chicken brought real delight. The boys are prepared to break camp Saturday morning. The outlook this year for a winning team is promising.

Two Big Surprises

The first big surprise of the day for the gridders came with the welcomed appearance of Jupiter Pluvius. It was feared that the rainmaker had gone on one of those illfated polar expeditions and might never return, but "Jupe" showed himself a real fellow and his work yesterday brought relief to a sweltering group of football boys. Thursday was the first cool day that the team has had since the camp opened, and they made the most of it.

The boys did not mind the rain one bit. On the other hand, they romped and played around in the wet grass and mud for more than two hours and there was no grumbling. Of course, with a precarious footing on the big field, Coach Bridenbaugh let the boys down easy and the workout was light. The morning session was a strenuous affair and consisted of running down punts and passes and giving the backfield men a few instructions in how the pigskin should be carried.

Fine Chicken Dinner

Well folks after the boys had wallowed around in the rain and mud for their allotted time in the afternoon, Coach Bridenbaugh called a halt and a rush was made for the bunk houses and dry clothing.

The second big surprise of the day came shortly after 6 o'clock when the call to supper sounded throughout the confines of the dense Muddy Creek Falls woodland. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner the "Daddy" of the team, had promised the youngsters a treat.

Usually at the camp there are a few stragglers who have to be called twice to lineup for the dinner bell, but it was noted last night that at the first sound of supper the boys grabbed their dishes and hurried to the table. You have probably guessed by this time that the meal about to be devoured by this hungry mob was chicken, well you are right, it was chicken and how.

The writer can truthfully say that never in his life, of some sixteen or eighteen summers and I, forget how many winters, has he sank the old molars into a piece of chicken that tasted any better. The old bird was turn to a turn and the cooking average of Mrs. James Kline and Miss Phcebe Turner made Hornsby and Goslin look like second raters. In addition to the chicken, the meal consisted of mashed potatoes, cold-slaw, delicious gravy, celery, etc.

Plates Licked Clean

If you think that the football men did not eat heavy of that chicken done rare, then you have missed. The meal would have done justice to a first-class hotel and the pocketbook would have suffered considerable punishment if one had to pay for that kind of a dinner anywhere. The plates were not hard to wash.

Faculty Manager Gardner the man with a heart as big as a washtub, had a few invited guests at the camp yesterday afternoon, and of course he insisted that they stay and gargle the chicken gravy. The guests were: Clyde Smith, Eddie Connery, Dr. John G. McConahy, and the writer.

Backfield Big Problem.

Now to enlighten you concerning whether or not New Castle High school is going to have one of their up to standard grid machines this fall. To be truthful the writer can say that the outlook this season is promising. Of course anything can happen and no game is won until it is over and all that, but here is the way the team shapes up to the writer:

New Castle high school football team is going to have a powerful line, or forward wall which ever you prefer The biggest problem that confronts Coach Bridenbaugh is the backfield. Now don't gain the impresion that the basckfield material is not up to snuff, it is, and more so, but there are but two regulars in the fold, Arthur Sillman and Tommy Harper. There is but four positions back of the line in the ball carrying department and there is eight candidates out for the four posts which means that Bridenbaugh will again have two sets of backfield men.

Candidates Galore.

With a foregone conclusion that Sillman and Harper will be two of the first string backfield men, it leaves Fernati, Art Alexander, Glenn Shaffer, Herb Smith, Di Carbo and Hoose as the contenders for the other two positions. Art Alexander and Smith both rookies from last year are showing up, better this season and they are waging stiff fights for the jobs. Glenn Shaffer, former star halfback at University High of Normal Illinois who is making his home here, looks the part of a real player and weighs about 155 pounds, he is promising and may get the call at a halfback post. Fernati is a wiry little youngster with lots of ambition and judging from his work last year and in camp this season is going to be high in esteem when the time comes to select the backfield. Di Carbo is a lineman. "Nick" played a guard last year but Coach Bridenbaugh has so many valuable linemen that he has decided to try Di Carbo in the backfield and there is a possibility that "Nick" may come through. Paul Cuba the gient tackle is another youth that has backfield possibilities. Hoose was at North street last year and played a good game at halfback he is still a youngster and without experience but is not lacking in energy and determination. It is the intention of Coach Bridenbaugh to get at least three or four men of varsity calibre out of this aforementioned group.

Needs Reserve Ends.

Another problem that Bridenbaugh faces is the development of a pair of capable substitute ends. Tony Ostrosky and Art Craft will of course get first call this year at the terminals, but a team is no stronger than its reserve material and that is the fly in the ointment. Andy Beres the West Pittsburg youth is one of the promising second-string ends.

The line looks set with Ostrosky and Craft at ends, Alexander and Cuba at the tackles, Mooney and DiCarbo at the guards with Ciccone the snapperback. Coah Bridenbaugh has plenty of beef in camp to choose from for the line in case he uses DiCarbo and Cuba in the backfield. Howley, Dinsmore and Canon are three of the biggest and most likely looking boys in the fight for line positions.

It will be a "lucky break" for New Castle high school if the backfield problem can be solved and a suitable combination collected out of the fine material.

Gardner Fortunate.

There is several weeks left before the opening game and the development of a smooth running eleven will be undertaken at Ben Franklin field starting next Tuesday afternoon.

Coach Bridenbaugh is very undecided on his starting lineup and it is believed that New Castle will have disposed of the first several games on the program before a first-string team is selected.

Gardner has been very fortunate this year in having the right kind of help at Camp Ne Ca Hi. Student Manager Edward Smith has worked his head off trying to attend the many wants of the gridders and has been assisted by Russell Forney, "Tubby" Ruha and Jimmy Jewell all ranking as assistant managers.

The squad breaks camp tomorrow morning and will rest until Tuesday.

Freak Golf

By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

If a man went out to pole vault wearing a nice empty barrel or played billiards making all his shots off a cigarette lighter everybody would say he was a cuckoo; yet golfers can do things almost as silly and get space in the newspapers for it.

Irving C. Franklin played in a costume tournament at the Parkridge Country club near Los Angeles on St. Valentine's day and won the prize with a score of 178 his handicap being 100 and his net 78. Playing 18 holes in a full suit of heavy armor has been done before as an Englishman named Harry Dearth played a match thus attired at Busbey Hall in 1912.

Joe Kirkwood of Australia specializes in public exhibitions of trick shots such as driving from the toe of a spectator's shoe, playing left-handed strokes with right-handed clubs, hitting three balls at a time and so forth but back in 1894 a three-ball match was held over the Musselburgh course between Messrs. Grant, Bowden and Waggott a club-maker, the latter driving off the face of a watch at each tee. Waggott finished the round in 41 although the flags were not in the holes and the watch was not scratched or damaged in any way.

Trick putters have long played a grotesque part in the history of the Scotch pastime but Mr. Crane's sawed-off one-handed club is about as unusual as they make 'em.

Golf has been played off sulbords, on mountin tops and on ice and it remained for Al Wilson the daredevil aviator to drive a ball from the wing of an airplane 3,000 feet above the ground.

No, Ehmeralda, the Icelanders who took part in the Olympics did not dress like Esquimaux neither did they train on a diet of pie.

Ritticisms

BY BILL RITT

Homer, the first sports editor, believed all fights were on the level. History says he was blind.

So everything he wrote was by hearsay, which qualified him as a modern expert.

At that, he never let a story get by. He covered everything from Socrates' hemlock handicap to Helen's big date at Troy.

If a big story broke that Homer didn't get, it appeared in another century.

The boy knew how to write. Though he's been doing harp and halo duty for over 2,000 years they still read his stuff.

He certainly pounded a mean stylus. When Homer got through writing up a war not even the generals recognized it.

He mixed his metaphors and addled his adjectives until he had the big boys fooled. They couldn't read it, so they thought it was important.

Homer was born two dozen centuries too soon. He would of made a million a minute in Hollywood.

AFTER TITLE AND SERIES DOUGH

Al Simmons, leading hitter of the Philadelphia Athletics, not only hopes to land the league batting honors this year, but would like to crash his way into a world's series pot as well.

To Play Again

James O. "Doc" Crandall, a big league pitching star 14 years ago, has returned to the diamond as a player. The famous old veteran, though past 40 years of age, has quit as manager and part owner of the Wichita Western league club to play with Sacramento, Cal. Crandall was famous as a Giant mound star and also played with the St. Louis Federal league club.

THE "GOLDEN STATE"

The name "California" was first applied to Lower California and probably was taken from the name of a fictitious island abounding in gold and precious stones, which was described in the Spanish romance, "Las Sergas de Esplandian," published in 1510.

Why shouldn't we have low-brow literature? Must an infant go hungry because it can't digest meat?

Alec Fox Trains With New Castle Grid Candidates

University Of Pittsburgh Football Captain For 1928 Is Camp Ne-Ca-Hi Guest

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

The New Castle High school football team received an agreeable surprise late Wednesday when Alec Fox former New Castle High star lineman and this year captain at the University of Pittsburgh put in his appearance. Fox will stay in camp until it breaks up Saturday.

Fox was extended an invitation by Coach Bridenbaugh and Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner. Alec has been assiting Bridenbaugh, Klee and Thomas in the task of teaching the boys the fundamental of the game. The former New Castle boy is a football player of the highest standard and his presence in camp is an inspiration to the youngsters.

The Pitt football team will go to Camp Windber on Sunday night and will start training on Monday. Fox is going to report to Coach Jock Sutherland in the "pink of condition." Always a willing worker the Pitt grid leader has entered into the training of the New Castle boys with a will and has been in the thick of all practices since joining the camp.

Fox Pessimistic.

Fox is very pessimistic over the chances of the Pitt team this year. He says that Sutherland faces a stiff task in selecting a machine that equals the 1927 team. The loss of Gibby Welch, Booth and several sterling linemen is a severe blow, but the outlook is not so discouraging "You can rely on it that Pitt will be up there again this year. It looks bad right now but every cloud has a silver lining" was the way Fox put it.

Fox is looking fit and healthy now and has gained a little weight this summer. "Just where I will be stationed this year I do not know" said Fox.

New Castle is going to keep a close watch on the Pitt team this year. Fox has the well wishes of thousands of football fans in this man's domain and it can be relied upon that he will do his best to raise the standard of Pitt.

Fifty Candidates For Naval Eleven

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Bullish enthusiasm overflowed into all of the important sections of the stock market today as prices of the leading stocks were again whipped along to higher levels in a torrent of speculative buying. The moderate increase in brokers' loans in a week of swiftly rising prices was again of unusual interest to the bulls, but not more important than the Reserve Board's statement showing re-purchase of $2,000,000 government bonds in the open market.

Decisive leadership of General Motors and American Can in today's brilliant advance of prices stimulated broad speculative buying of stocks in all quarters. American Can topped 112 for a 2 point rise: General Motors sold up nearly 4 points to above 198: Radio advanced 7 points to 212 in a sweeping movement which completed a recovery of nearly 40 points from the June slump. The automobile accessory stocks wre strong with Timken, Stewart and Yellow Truck advancing boisterously.

The coppers and independent steels were comparatively quiet, but International Nickel pushed ahead to a new high above 115 in one of the most active buying periods of the year. United Cigar Stores carried its advance to 31 in heavy trading. International Combustion and American International advanced brilliantly.

Alleged Plotter Against Thaw Is Now In Custody

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—A demand upon Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry K. Thaw, for $5,000 under threat of violence against her son was disclosed today with the arrest of William Beatty, 42, at a spot in Highland Park where the money was to have been deposited.

"We demand $5,000 from your son," detectives said the threat to Mrs. Thaw read. "If he doesn't take care of this matter his life will be in danger."

Beatty denied any connection with the plot.

Young Girl Drinks Poison In Cafe At Uniontown, Pa.

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 31.—Dramatically drinking the contents of a small bottle of poison in a cafe here today, Miss Marie Pratt, 20, probably will die.

Police secured details of the story from other habitues of the cafe.

Miss Pratt commanded the attention of the handful of customers by flourishing a bottle she had taken from her vanity case, and shouted: "Who wants a drink?"

"You can have what I leave," she replied to those who responded to her offer. She drank the contents, handed it to a man sitting near her and collapsed.

Hospital authorities do not think she will recover.

Pitcairn Woman Killed In Crash, Driver Is Held

(International News Service)

JENNERSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Anna Toohill, 47, Pitcairn, was killed and Mrs. Mary Harrison, 54, was suffering today from injuries received when Thomas J. Heskin's auto crashed into a telephone pole on a steep hill on the Lincoln highway last night.

Although it was said another car attempted to pass Heskin's and in attempting to avoid a collision the latter lost control of his machine, state police arrested Heskin and sent him to Somerset jail on a manslaughter charge.

Persons who see the hat worn by Mrs. Lucia Fester-Welch, mayoress of Southampton, England, now visiting in the United States, little suspect its history. When she became mayoress, Mrs. Fester-Welch accepted the traditional scarlet cloak and gold necklace worn by her predecessors, but she refused to wear the unattractive hat. She had the hat she is wearing, above, made after the same lines but in a more becoming fashion.

Gene Tunney Is London Visitor

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, millionaire and savant, motored up from Surrey today after a brief visit at the home of his friend, Thornton Wilder, the American novelist. The ex-pugilist lunched quietly with friends. His itinerary for the afternoon was uncertain, but it was expected he would visit one of the big art galleries.

Tunney now plans to leave for Paris on Monday. From Paris he will go to the Tyrol, accompanied by his friend Wilder.

Stinnes Suffers Nervous Breakdown

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—Hugo Stinnes, son of the late industrial magnate and capitalist, is suffering from a nervous breakdown today as the result of his unexpected arrest on the charge of implication in a plot to swindle the government through false declaration of war bonds. The investigation continues. The arrest is an unprecedented incident in the downfall of a house which, four years ago, practically ruled Germany through its mighty financial and industrial power. It overshadowed all other news today.

Stinnes' secretary, Herr von Waldow, who was arrested two weeks ago, charged with conspiracy, was released today on condition he remains in Berlin and reports to the Berlin police twice each week.

Four Are Nabbed By Warren Police, Believed Thugs

(International News Service)

WARREN, Pa., Aug. 31.—With the arrest of three women and one man accused of receiving stolen goods, police believe they have disclosed a burglary ring, which has operated here for weeks.

Those arrested are Maynard Spitz, 30, of Bear Lake and his wife, Mrs. Owen Taylor, 19, of Hydes Mill and Mrs. Mary M. Dunnew, 22, no address. Police say Owen Taylor, 21, escaped as they searched his home. The four prisoners were free under bail today to await trial.

Sheriff Harry Jefferson raided the Taylor home on a liquor warrant, and flour, furniture and automobile accessories, were found. Some of the loot was said to have been stolen from the Gurland Feed Mill and the Columbus Filling Station.

Dapper Murder Car Is Believed Seen

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—A squad of county detectives was rushed to Mifflin township today when it was reported that an automobile resembling that of Dr. Harry R. Dapper, mysteriously slain recently, had been abandoned near Mays Borough.

Officers Given Hearing Today Before Green

Absence Of Two Commonwealth Witnesses Causes Continuance Until Saturday

NOT GUILTY PLEAS ENTERED BY ALL

Hearing of Alderman Walter T. Hamilton, Second Ward; John Miller, constable Fifth Ward, and W. C. Morrison, chief of police of Ellwood City, on charges of extortion and conspiracy to extort made by County Detective William G. Fleming, got under way this morning before Alderman O. H. P. Green. Due to the fact that there were two witnesses, which the Commonwealth had been unable to have present, the hearing was on the request of the Commonwealth, adjourned at noon today until 10 o'clock Saturday morning, when the testimony to be offered by the Commonwealth will have been completed.

The defendants in the case were represented by Attorneys R. K. Aiken and W. W. Braham, while the prosecution was in the hands of District Attorney J. Elder Bryan and County Detective William G. Fleming.

Claims No Hearings.

In the examination of the witnesses, District Attorney Bryan sought to bring out the fact that none of the defendants, men of Ellwood City, who had been charged with a serious offense against certain young girls of Ellwood City, as well as disorderly conduct and other charges, and that they had been advised that they could settle the case by paying fines imposed on the charge of disorderly conduct.

One of the girls in the original case was presented as a witness and testified as to her imprisonment, also to the fine imposed and costs charged and the amount paid by her brother in getting her out of jail.

The defense in cross examination attempted to bring out the fact that the defendants, all were properly served with warrants stating the several charges on which they were arrested and also had had the informations read to them, that none of them demanded hearings on the more serious charge, being anxious to avoid all possible connection with such a charge and paying their fines and costs on the charges of disorderly conduct on which they were found guilty. The defense also made every possible effort to show through the witnesses of the Commonwealth that their had been no effort at coercion and that they had been accorded every opportunity of defense in connection with the case.

Amends Information.

After council for the defense had entered pleas of not guilty to the charges against the three defendants, District Attorney Bryan was permitted to amend the original informations to the extent that where it was said that John Miller was a constable of the Eighth Ward to the effect that he was a constable of the Fifth Ward, New Castle.

Edith Rodgers was the first witness called by the commonwealth. She stated that she was twenty-one years of age and a resident of Ellwood City. She stated that she knew all three defendants. She said she thought it was on May 1 that Morrison and Miller came to her home and informed her that she was wanted on charges made before Alderman Hamilton, New Castle. She dressed and went with them to Hamilton's office arriving there about five or six o'clock that day. They had shown her no warrant but had stated the charges on which she was wanted. They were accompanied to New Castle by a man named Toth.

At Alderman Hamilton's office, the informations had been read to her she said, the charge being inticing a minor girl under sixteen for immoral purposes and having been with certain men of Ellwood City.

She pleaded not guilty and was taken to the county jail, where she remained for three days until taken back to Hamilton's for a hearing. Edith and Margaret Moran, girls she was accused of enticing, were at the hearing. These girls testified at the hearing. She was fined $25 or 30 days in jail, she said. She heard nothing about costs. She was taken back to jail and remained there three days, when her mother and brother got her out.

Mistaken In Time

On cross examination it was brought out that she was mistaken as to the time of her arrest and hearing. It was May 21 and May 24 respectively, she admitted. She admitted that the informations had been read to her, in which she had been charged with offenses already stated but she did not remember of hearing the charge disorderly conduct. Her brother had paid $33.50 to get her released. This was fines and costs on one charge and a fine on the second charge. It was a reduction from $50, she stated.

Ernest Rodgers, her brother was then called and told substantially the same story about the arrest as his sister. He went to New Castle with his mother on May 28th. He did not know the charges on which his sister was arrested, he said, Alderman Hamilton informed him that the fines and costs amounted to $50 but reduced them to $33.50, which he paid and secured the release of his sister. On cross examination, he stated that he was aware that there had been two charges or informations and that on one information no costs had been charged. He had made statements that his sister was not as bad as she had been pictured.

Mike Toth Called

Mike Toth was then called but was not present and Sam Rich of Ellwood City was called. He had heard he was wanted. He hunted up Chief Morrison and was told by him that he had no warrant for him but if he did he would hunt him up. Later he went to the police station, and Morrison told him he had a warrant for him charging adultery and if he would go to the office of Alderman Hamilton in New Castle, he could save $25 or $30.

He went to Hamilton's accompanied by Philip Romeo. The informations were read to him charging adultery and something else, he did not remember what. When told his fine was $25, he objected because he had been told the others paid but twenty. He also referred to the fact that there were several names or aliases on his information. He stated he had been informed that he could pay the twenty-five or go to jail. He was informed he said that they had made several trips to get him and that was the reason for the increased costs, he said on cross examination. He said also that the charge was fornication not adultery. He had received a receipt for the money, he said, this having been produced on direct examination. He said he had not had a hearing on the fornication charge, also that he had not demanded a hearing on the charge. He pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct, when informed he would be sent to jail pending a hearing, he admitted on cross examination.

Pleaded Guilty

William J. Nabors, admitted he was married and stated he was a resident of Ewing Park, Ellwood City. The warrant had been read to him by Constable Miller and Chief Morrison. Disorderly conduct was one of the charges. When he came before Alderman Hamilton, he heard the information read, on which there were several charges. He wanted to get out of it the best way he could and when informed, he said, that if he pleaded guilty to the disorderly conduct charge, that the more serious charge would not be pressed, he gladly paid $20 as fine and costs. He had no hearing on the more serious charge. He had paid by check. He stated on cross-examination that the warrant had been read to him, that he knew Edith Rodgers to speak to her also that he had known the other girls but that nothing wrong had occured at any time. He had no hearing on the serious charge, he stated.

Refused Check.

Sidney Baney told of hearing that he was wanted and seeking Chief Morrison at the police station, his father had given him a blank check which Morrison made out for $20 and his father signed. He had cashed this because Morrison had told him that Hamilton would not take a check and it would look bad anyway. He had been brought to New Castle by Morrison. They went to the Detention home and had talked to J. M. Dunlap, juvenile court officer. The girls were there and had been taken down to Hamilton's office with them. He insisted that he had pleaded not guilty to the serious charges but because he disliked the notoriety, had followed the suggestion that if he paid $20 the case would be dropped providing he pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He had no hearing on any charge he claimed. He denied that he had admitted having immoral relations with any of the girls. He was positive on cross examination that he had had no hearing or had been afforded an opportunity of a hearing.

Alex Pavlin of Ellwood City was the final witness today and his testimony was simply to the effect that he had come to New Castle and paid $20 to get Mike Toth out of jail. He did admit that they had asked his name at the alderman's office and that he would not tell for a while but that when they did learn his name that they told him that the girls had named him. No information was read to him nor did he pay any fines himself.

Council To Meet Monday Morning

Council will meet Monday morning at nine o'clock, eastern standard time, it was stated today in councilmanic session. The adjourned meetings will be held at 10 a. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays.

BEING A SPORT

Somebody has said that it is easy to be a good sport in any matter that you don't care much about. It is not easy to be a good sport when you are so interested in the outcome of a contest that you are swayed by emotion as much as by logic. There is no more admirable human quality than the capacity for being fair when your own comfort and your own interests are heavily involved.

FLOWERS IN THE AIR

Airplanes seem particularly fitted for carrying perishable products. It is said that in one month planes of the Royal Dutch Air Lines have transported 150,000 pounds of fruit and flowers from Netherland farms and gardens to London alone. Flowers are also delivered to Paris and Scandinavian cities within ten hours of their picking.

NO SPEED HERE

It is pleasant to learn that not everything in America is associated with speed. Despite some amazing factory records not all manufacturing is done in a hurry. Recently a disk weighing 50 pounds was cut out of a huge piece of glass weighing two tons. The disk, which is to be used in a great telescope, is nearly six feet across and 11 inches thick. The glass was cast in May, 1927, and cooled during the following eight months. It was cooled slowly so that there should be no appreciable stress or strain in the piece. A hole eight inches across was cut through the center of the disk. This was cut with a drill at the rate of an inch a day.

Perhaps we should live longer and be happier if more work were done better and more slowly.

HARDSHIP

A news dispatch some days ago carried the information that a Pennsylvania woman, aged 77, had been rescued after four days and nights in the mountains. She lost her shoes and was forced for the most of the time to go barefooted. She lived on berries. At the end of her experience she complained only of being a little tired.

There's still some good human stock in this country, despite our fast pace, little sleep and overeating. Barbarism produced better men and women, physically, than civilization does. Only the strong could stand the hardships. The weak died and the race was kept strong. That is not a complete argument for a return to barbarism, but we might well take on some of the physical hardships. It is especially good for youth, and for middle age when the stomach shows signs of being permanently expanded.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

For the past two weeks this colyum has been a lot less than 100 per cent. Sort of a miss in balk, if you like your billiards, or to use the words of some of the younger generation, considerable of a wet smack.

If you haven't read it, you haven't noticed it, and if you have, you have, so that's that. The thing is this: If you can stand it for one more day the engineer promises, or threatens, to put something into it, beginning next Tuesday.

Not Monday, ye ken, for there will be no paper on Monday (loud cheers from the editorial staff), it being Labor Day. And after that work will commence in earnest.

Driving around in a fog is so pleasant and for a time last night the lower roads promised well for anybody who likes to drive in fog. Sort of a hit-skip arrangement. Now you saw it and now you didn't, and the safe thing was down around 30 miles an hour.

This four service club picnic to be held at Lakewood next Wednesday promises to be a humdinger. Lee Marvin, president of the Kiwanis Club, was in today and talked as though it would be a sort of combination of a world's fair, an old-fashioned hoe-down and a convention of business people.

This idea was suggested today. On next Wednesday, Sept. 5, the coast-to-coast air derby leaves New York on the first leg of the flight which will end at McKeesport that night. New Castle has an entry in the race, "The Tin City Rocket", and it has been suggested that a crowd of New Castle people go down to McKeesport to welcome the New Castle fliers. Not a bad idea, or what do you think of it?

City Plans To Pave East Division Street

Another ordinance provides for the paving of East Division street between Cunningham avenue and Pearson street.

Both were sent to committee.

Lay Hall Floors In New Junior Hall

The laying of the linoleum in the corridors of the new George Washington Junior High school will be completed tomorrow acording to the statement of J. Clyde Gilfillan, contractor.

All of the floor linoleum has been down in the offices and class rooms and when this hall finishing is done the building will be ready for entrance and occupation.

All of the class rooms, offices lavatories and other rooms of the new building are completed stated Mr. Gilfillan. Plastering was started in the auditorium today. School assembly will be held in the gymnasium until the auditorium is completed.

In addition stated Mr. Gilfillan the landscape work will be finished in the course of a few more days and will be done prior to the opening of school. The main reason for the delay has been the weather which has not permitted full time work on the lawn.

Despite the fact that there have been several unavoidable hang-ups which have halted the work several times the building will be completed in little over a year following the ground breaking. The Ben Franklin building which is not as large as the George Washington took two full years of construction to complete it.
